In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

Two men with the hardest and most thankless job in our British Columbia Legislature set stone in sili on Monday, and let fly with a will at Premier Bennett's $395,593,000 budget.

Since it happens to be a pretty solid budget—and since their total parties are heavily out-weighted by the government side in any division—it is unlikely that their criticisms, complaints and alternative suggestions will alter more than a line or two in the 67 expensively-printed and lavishly-illustrated pages of the premier's budget speech.

Even so, let us not delude ourselves that the hours spent by Opposition chief Robert Strachan and Liberal Leader Ray Perrault in testing the joints of government's armor were wasted.

Of the checks and balances parliament has evolved for itself, by far the most important is Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Traditionally if not always in fact, the legislators ranged to the left of Mr. Speaker are the conscience of the House.

Needle and Nag

It is their task to chip and nag . . . to needle and challenge . . . to lay back their ears and dig in their heels when they feel the government is abusing its mandate from the people.

Any man who wins his way into what has been described as B.C.'s most exclusive club must be effective in debate; and the opposition side especially develops trenchant and eloquent speakers. Mr. Strachan and Mr. Perrault are two of the Legislature's finest. Their pebbles may have bounced harmless off Goliath's forehead; but at least, they added to the education of the student audience in the galleries an example of parliamentary debate at its best.

Mr. Strachan on automation is always impressive, but his Monday description of how the machines threaten to take over the human function was a proper chiller. I could wish, though, that he had pulled more stops in his lament for the passing of the mid-night steamer from Victoria to Vancouver.

All Quiet Here

Mr. Bennett, obviously relaxed after his own big speech on Friday, indulged himself in less than his usual quota of Strachan-baiting. Through much of the afternoon, he leaned back in his blue chair like a benevolent schoolmaster, interrupting the speakers hardly at all.

Happiest government member of the day was Dan Campbell, Comox, who told me over coffee that work had begun Monday morning on the new $1,250,000 ferry service which will give Comox Valley growers a direct-line market in Powell River area.

Mr. Campbell expects that sport fishermen and vacationists will receive several bonuses from the new venture. Sand dredged from the ferry basin near Little River on Comox Peninsula will be used to establish a beach, and ramps will open one of the Island's east coast's best salmon grounds to trailer-boaters.

Land reserves, which include a 25-acre tract alongside the projected terminal, will probably be developed into parks.

Meeker Committed

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Leonard James Meeker, 35-year-old Kimberley farmhand, Monday was committed for trial on a charge of rape involving a 49-year-old mother of five.

Rolling Surf Washed Up Glad Tidings

TOFINO — The age of miracles isn't over, according to members of the Ucluelet Indian Reserve.

Their prayers for lumber to build a gospel mission church have been answered. The lumber came in the wake of a storm. Hundreds of pieces of first class lumber, mostly 2x4's were washed up on the shore of the reserve.

It is believed the lumber was washed off the deck of an outbound freighter in Barkley Sound during a storm.

Sam Houchie, an energetic church worker said the salvaged lumber was just what they wanted for the 60x34 building being built by volunteers.

But, he added, they still need more lumber.

"Tell the people we are still praying for materials to finish the church," he said.

Hucksterism Charged In Welfare

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett's approach to social welfare is like a public relations huckster, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged Monday.

He derided the premier's "human betterment" budget in a 2½-hour reply to the legislature.

"It is sad to see that instead of trying to meet the problem with a genuine plan, this government has fallen back on its favorite gimmick, the almighty dollar and the public relations huckster," he said.

"That huckster-like phrase 'human betterment' which has been dreamed up for use with such frequency throughout the budget doesn't alter the fact that this particular budget is no different from any previous budget brought down by this government as far as services to people are concerned."

Mr. Strachan said the government has allowed the social welfare department to

Birch Group Blasts JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—A John Birch Society's publication contains an article in its current issue saying that as long as there are Americans, President Kennedy's "memory will be cherished with distaste." It speculates on the possibility that "will curse him" some day.

Robert Welch Jr., founder of the ultra-rightist society and editor of the publication, the American Opinion, described the article as "superb commentary."

The article appears under the name of Revillo P. Oliver, professor of classics at the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Birch Society's national commission.

GREATEST WORRY IN CUBAN CRISIS

JFK Feared for World's Children

WASHINGTON (AP)—The spectre of a nuclear war killing children — "who had no part and knew nothing of the confrontation"—was John F. Kennedy's greatest fear in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, his brother has disclosed.

Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy said in a new foreword to the late president's book, "Profiles in Courage," that he and his brother recognized the possibility of being killed, but this "seemed so unimportant, almost frivolous."

"The one matter which really was of concern to him and truly had meaning and made that time much more fearful than it would otherwise have been, was the spectre of death of the children of this country

U.K. Asks Canada for Troops As Part of Force for Cyprus

1,000-Man Unit Butler's Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home said today he hopes Canada will contribute troops to the proposed international police force for Cyprus.

A force was needed on the island if civil war were to be prevented, he told a press conference after two days of talks with Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson declined comment on possible Canadian participation in the projected 10,000-man force.

Sir Alec was asked for comment on the propriety of R. A. Butler, British foreign secretary, publicly asking for 1,000 Canadian infantrymen for a Cyprus force.

He said Mr. Butler always acts with "complete propriety." He had not seen what Mr. Butler had said and it was not yet known what form the force would take.

Sir Alec said he would be happy if the force had a "link" with the United Nations but direct control of the force by the UN Security Council should be avoided because of the possibility of a Soviet veto.

"The Cyprus problem must be internationalized," Sir Alec said.

NOT A NATO FORCE

The proposed international force was not a NATO force and would not be commanded by NATO's Supreme Commander in Europe. It would be drawn from NATO countries or from NATO and other nations.

Asked whether Britain would command the force, Sir Alec replied: "We usually have to do these things in the end."

He would be happy with a link between the force and the UN "so long as this does not hamstring the force." If the force were established, the contributing nations must make sure it would be able to operate.

Sir Alec said he has never been averse to UN peacekeeping operations but such operations must be well directed, executed and commanded.

Cyprus Hopes For UN Force

LONDON (Reuters)—Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou today reiterated his government's hope for a United Nations-sponsored peace-keeping force for his island country, preferably from Commonwealth nations.

"We have always wanted a force under the Security Council of the United Nations. The composition of this force would preferably be from Commonwealth countries."

Kyprianou made the statement before flying to Nicosia to report to President Archbishop Makarios on talks on a compromise Anglo-American plan calling for a NATO-sponsored force to maintain peace on the Mediterranean island.

Canadian at Talks

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Arthur Andrew, Canada's high commissioner to Cyprus and ambassador to Israel, arrived here Monday night for talks with Cypriot, U.S. and British officials.

BEATLE-ISM BECOMES TOP STRATEGY

OTTAWA (CP)—Beatlemania intruded today into a press conference given by Prime Minister Pearson and Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

During questions and answers about Anglo-Canadian trade, Mr. Pearson interjected: "We agreed that one form in which the balance of payments could be improved in the near future would be by inviting the Beatles to Canada."

"They would take millions of dollars, and we promised not to apply any anti-dumping duties against them."

Sir Alec added: "Our relations with Canada have been very good up to now."

British PM Says Trade Must Improve

OTTAWA — British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home today suggested Canada discriminate against his country's goods.

He also told a press conference that the United Kingdom was about to launch a trade offensive in order to capture a greater share of the Canadian market.

With Canadian Prime Minister Pearson sitting beside him, Sir Alec declared he had made up his mind that Britain's heavy imbalance of trade with Canada "must" improve.

He said he hoped some improvements in the situation might be accomplished as a result of talks to be held in London later this month between Canadian Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp and U.K. Board of Trade President Edward Heath.

COMPETITIVE PRICES

In addition, the U.K. government was going to do all it could to get its industries to come up with competitive prices in Canada, and that they would then get "fair" treatment under Canada's anti-dumping regulations.

He was asked if this was a suggestion Canadian anti-dumping laws were unfair to British goods.

Sir Alec replied he would not want to "suggest anything at the moment," until he saw just what the situation was after the sharp-teeth talks. But he added:

"It would seem they (the dumping laws) work against us."

Sir Alec was asked if Britain might retaliate with restrictions against Canadian goods if the U.K. trade position didn't improve.

He replied with a smile that he wasn't prepared to admit there wouldn't be an improvement.

AUSSIE SEAMEN TELL OF TRAGEDY

82 Died 'Without a Chance'

(Times News Service)

SYDNEY—The Australian Navy reported today that 82 men died "without a chance" when the destroyer Voyager was cleaved in two by an aircraft carrier seven times its size and sent to the bottom of the Tasman Sea.

It was the Australian navy's worst peacetime disaster.

The bodies of the captain and two members of his crew were found today, floating off Australia's east coast, 100 miles southeast of Sydney.

Search and rescue teams abandoned all hope of finding the 79 other missing officers, enlisted men and civilian technicians alive.

A total of 239 men aboard the sleek, ultra-modern vessel survived, but many were injured seriously.

The Voyager sank in 490 feet of water late Monday night when it was rammed amidships by the aircraft carrier Melbourne, the navy's flagship, during training manoeuvres.

Navy Minister Alexander J. Forbes said the Voyager, running dark except for mast lights, cut across the Melbourne's bow and was cut in half. He began an intensive investigation of the collision.

Both Ships Travelling at 30 Knots

Both ships were proceeding at high speed—about 30 knots.

A survivor, chief shipwright Albert Maize, said about 70 of the missing men were below the water line, "sleeping or playing house-house (bingo) when we were hit. They didn't have a chance." He said many men aboard the ship were "inexperienced ratings who hadn't been trained to cope with anything like this."

Crew members of the Voyager not on duty were sleeping, preparing for bed, reading or otherwise relaxing.

In a canteen in the forward section, 70 or 80 men were playing bingo. Suddenly the signal

"collision stations" was piped and repeated.

"Then there was one hell of a bang," said Lt.-Cmdr. Peter Coombs, 34, of Sydney. "I was thrown across the wardroom. The forward section split and turned upside down."

Many bodies were believed trapped in the forward section. Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies today ordered a public investigation into the sea disaster.

Calling the disaster shocking and unparalleled in Australia's peacetime naval history, Menzies said a normal navy inquiry would be inadequate. He said he would appoint a judge to investigate.

The 20,000-ton Melbourne, the Australian Navy flagship, smashed into the Voyager amidship, slicing the destroyer in two. The Voyagers' bow section sank within minutes in 75 fathoms (450 feet) of water. Its after section remained afloat for nearly three hours.

Both ships were equipped with radar-controlled steering, and their modern equipment was a source of pride to the Australian Navy.

The Voyager, launched in 1957, was the largest destroyer ever built in Australia. With her anti-aircraft guns as well as steering controlled by radar, the electronically guided vessel could go into action with all hands below deck.

The collision occurred at about 9 p.m. while night-flight exercises were under way aboard the Melbourne about 20 miles off Jervis Bay Naval Station, site of the Royal Australian Naval College.

Navy Minister J. Forde said the Voyager was on standby rescue duty in case any planes from the Melbourne came down in the sea.

"Voyager was roughly half a mile astern of Melbourne so that when the carrier reversed her course, it was necessary for her to transfer her position."

CUT IN HALF

"It appears that in carrying out this manoeuvre, Voyager cut across the bows of Melbourne and was cut in half," he added.

The Melbourne, its speed cut to three knots, limped toward Sydney today with a gaping hole in its bows.

No casualties were reported on the Melbourne, a sister ship of the Canadian carrier Bonaventure.

Capt. Stevens, who entered the Royal Australian Navy in 1936, and served in the Second World War, was promoted to the rank of commander in 1956 and captain in 1962.

Survivors said the two ships collided with a clap like thunder, followed by the screech of tearing metal as the carrier cut through the destroyer.

The sea was covered with debris, oil and a swarm of rubber rafts which were set adrift from Voyager before she went down.

CYPRUS

Asked whether France in effect has opted out of NATO in view of its refusal to take part in a Cyprus force, Sir Alec said France "certainly has not opted out of NATO." France co-operated in the NATO council though its NATO activities were "somewhat reduced."

At another point, Sir Alec said Russia has decided that military force is "out" as an instrument of national policy.

The West should try to persuade Russia and China that subversion was also detrimental to their own interests.

EXPLORE POSSIBILITIES

Sir Alec said he will explore with President Johnson later this week the possibilities of following up the nuclear test ban treaty, even with narrow agreements. The momentum generated by the test ban should be kept going, perhaps with agreement on measures to avoid surprise attack.

Asked whether he would have any advice for Mr. Johnson on the Panama Canal in view of British experience at Suez, Sir Alec said this was a matter for the U.S. "and I wish they'd left us alone at that time."

He indicated there is little immediate possibility of a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Mr. Butler embarrassed Canadian officials with his surprise announcement that Britain wants 1,000 Canadian infantrymen for the Cyprus force.

Mr. Butler let his political cat out of the bag at a press conference Monday only seconds after External Affairs Minister Martin had said he couldn't be specific about subjects discussed at the two ministers' 90-minute meeting.

Mr. Martin said the preservation of order in Cyprus would cause the Canadian government to give sympathetic consideration to a request for a Canadian contribution to an international force.

Latter, he said Canada is interested in helping to establish order on Cyprus, where Turks and Greeks are at each other's throats, but that any peace-keeping force should be connected with the United Nations.

Mr. Martin's suggestion falls in line with the wishes of the Cypriot and Greek governments in negotiations for the proposed peace-keeping force.

BEATLES SKID IN RATINGS

LONDON (UPI) — The Beatles, Britain's top pop musical group now appearing in New York, today dropped out of the top 10 record chart for the first time since last August.

Figures released by the Melody Maker Magazine showed the Beatles' highest record was No. 14—"I Want to Hold Your Hand."

cue boats from Melbourne circled the area. Searchlights from the carrier lit up the sea and helicopters flew above.

WATER TOO DEEP

A navy source said 75 fathoms is too deep for any diving equipment in Australia.

Maine, 35, said he was walking out of a messroom in the after part of the ship when the collision occurred.

"There was a tremendous bang," he said. "We lost all lights and communications. I thought she was going to roll. I held on. I thought we'd all had it."

"Where the boys had been playing bingo, she was crushed and under water. Up on deck it was a tangled mess with the masts, funnels and bridge all smashed and crushed," he said.

A mechanic, D. E. Rochow, 32, said he and two shipmates "paddled like hell" in a raft to get away before the doomed ship could suck them under in sinking.

"I heard the order to stand by for a collision," said Petty Officer Brian Cumming, 33.

"Before I could do anything I was thrown across the mess, hit my head on a steel ladder and was knocked unconscious."

"When I came to, my mates were standing around me. The ship was over on its side."

"My mates half lifted me through an escape hatch in the side of the ship. We stood on the side as if it was a deck."

There was oil everywhere, men clinging to rafts, and the ship almost completely submerged.

"We yelled to some men on a raft and they paddled over and took us off."

The point of impact was the Voyager's officers quarters and her canteen.

HUCKSTERISM

deteriorate to the point where it can do nothing but hand out cash.

He called for a full-time minister and a new, separate department of social welfare and rehabilitation.

He said there should be a massive program to deal with a changing labor force faced with automation as well as a general "expansionist policy" by the government.

BLACK CHIEF

He chided Welfare Minister Wesley Black (who also holds the municipal affairs and provincial secretary's portfolios) for not speaking up during the throne speech debate.

Mr. Black makes his first speech of the session today.

"In view of the chaotic situation in his department I do feel that he should at least have given some information to this House before now," Mr. Strachan said.

He said Mr. Black's silence until after the budget confirmed Social Credit's obsession that the only way to get out of an unpleasant situation is to talk about money.

Despite its words, the budget showed some evidence that the government had at last "got through its thick hide" that social welfare is a problem.

But the budget had referred to "staggering increases for human betterment."

LESS THAN BEFORE

"The alleged increases both in money and staff are in fact less than in previous years and merely a provision to try to keep pace with the staggering increases in social problems and case loads that have become the trademark of Social Credit."

Mr. Strachan said the "staggering increase" in the social welfare budget was less than it had been in the past two years. The amount allowed for social assistance, he pointed out, is only $1,600,000.

He charged that most of this would be repaid by the federal government.

ONLY FIVE MORE

The total number of social workers to be hired is only five more than 1963, he said. And the figures given were only estimates "that have a habit of remaining estimates and nothing more."

The budget gave three different figures for welfare spending — $33,400,000, $37,600,000 and $63,300,000. The lowest is the correct figure, he said.

"Is it any wonder we sometimes accuse this government of misleading the people?"

Mr. Strachan termed the budget a collection of "little white whoppers."

Solution of welfare problems lies not in providing more money but better planning and administration and more rehabilitation, he said.

HANDOUTS ONLY

As an example he cited the case of Mrs. Theresa Kozis, a welfare recipient convicted of assaulting a welfare officer in Vancouver. A social worker testified at her trial that she hadn't the time to see Mrs. Kozis; all she had been able to do was give her handouts.

"And the premier has the gall to tell this House we have the finest social welfare services in Canada," Mr. Strachan said.

"Casework in the early stages would rehabilitate these people and would save the taxpayer millions of dollars in the long run."

The government had failed to come to grips with increasing welfare problems in a boom economy, he said.

Iraqi, Kurds Quit Fighting

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters) — Baghdad radio announced Monday night that fighting between Kurdish rebel tribesmen and Iraqi Army forces in northern Iraq has been ordered halted.

Brig-Gen. Abdul Karim Farhan, the Iraqi national guidance minister, said in a surprise broadcast that the Kurdish leader, Mustapha el-Barzani, had called on the Kurds to lay down their arms.

Farhan said the Iraqi government would recognize the national rights of the Kurds. He said all Kurdish prisoners would be released and that the current economic blockade of Kurdistan would be lifted.

It was not immediately clear whether the announcement meant the Kurds had won their centuries-old demand for Kurdish autonomy.

Columbia Plan Called 'Most Profitable Deal'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Creation of a vast Columbia-Peace River high-voltage transmission grid to bring cheap power to all major B.C. communities will be one of the main advantages of the Columbia River treaty, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside predicted Monday.

Addressing the Vancouver Board of Trade, Dr. Keenleyside gave a detailed review of negotiations leading to the agreement by which the U.S. will pay Canada $274,800,000 Oct. 1, 1964, and an additional total of $69,600,000 in 1968, 1969 and 1973 as three Canadian storage dams come into operation at Duncan, Arrow and Mica Creek.

He said the treaty was the "most profitable, single international commercial transaction" in the history of Canada. It would pay all the capital costs of the storage dams as they occur, pay about half the capital cost of generators at Mica and enable installation there of a 1,800,000 kilowatt plant to produce energy for Canada at less than 1.5 mills per kilowatt-hour. Dr. Keenleyside said that all

Help Asked On Green Belt

Capital Region Planning Board indicated Monday it will ask the provincial government to chip in to an intermunicipal fund for purchasing green belts in the Saanich peninsula.

A letter from the board received at City Hall said it felt the biggest obstacle to the proposal by Hugh Stephens that the Greater Victoria municipalities band together to preserve park areas in North and Central Saanich would be financial.

"It was therefore decided to approach the province but first the board resolved to request the endorsement of each municipality," the letter said.

Liberals Register Easy Wins

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Liberal candidates breezed to victory in federal byelections Monday, retaining Montreal St. Denis and Montreal Laurier constituencies for Prime Minister Pearson's minority government.

Marcel Prud'homme, a 29-year-old lawyer, won St. Denis and Fernand Leblanc, 46-year-old chartered accountant, took Laurier by substantial margins in the first byelections since the government took office last April. Both men were making their first bid for office.

Their election left the party standing in the 265-seat House of Commons as it was last month—before Justice Minister Lionel Chevrier resigned Laurier to become Canadian high commissioner in London and Postmaster-General Axelius Denis resigned St. Denis and accepted a Senate appointment.

Standings are: Liberals 129; Progressive Conservatives 95; NDP 17; Creditistes 13; Social Credit 11.

QUIET CAMPAIGN

Election campaigning was quiet in the two ridings that have voted Liberal ever since they were established—St. Denis in 1914, Laurier in 1933—and voting was light.

Fewer than 44 per cent of the 35,402 eligible voters in St. Denis braved near-zero weather to get to the polls, and fewer than 40 per cent of the 25,995 registered in Laurier.

The Liberal margin of victory was smaller than in last year's general elections, but it was convincing. The only one of nine unsuccessful candidates to save his deposit by drawing half as many votes as the winner was Progressive Conservative Rodolphe Sauve in St. Denis.

Politicians were watching the byelection results anxiously for at least two reasons.

For one thing, the vote in the predominantly Liberal ridings would be a good indication of the popularity, or unpopularity, of government policies. It also was the first test of Real Caouette's Ralliement des Creditistes since it split with Robert Thompson's Social Credit party.

Both Creditistes—Gilles Caouette, son of the party leader, in Laurier and auto parts dealer Henri Paquet in St. Denis—finished second in federal general elections last spring but didn't fare as well this time.

NDP WELL BACK

Neither NDP candidate drew a strong vote. Gerard Picard, Quebec NDP leader and a well-known labor figure in the province, was second-last among five candidates in Laurier and Mrs. Rejeanne Dinelle, 43, a housewife and veteran labor organizer, was fourth among the six in St. Denis.

Voters paid little serious attention to two semi-serious candidates of the Rhinoceros party, an organization with the announced aim of lampooning existing political parties and institutions.

Printe. Andre Goulet polled 216 votes in Laurier and Dr. Paul Ferron 182 in St. Denis. The only candidate to draw fewer votes was Henri-Georges Grenier, who got 62 ballots in St. Denis for an independent organization he calls Le Parti Humain Familial (The Human Family Party).

The complete count for 107 polls in Laurier was:

Gregoire, Creditiste, 2,234; Goulet, Rhinoceros, 216; Leblanc, Liberal, 5,349; Rene Paquin, Conservative, 1,896; Picard, NDP, 683.

In St. Denis, complete results for 209 polls were:

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

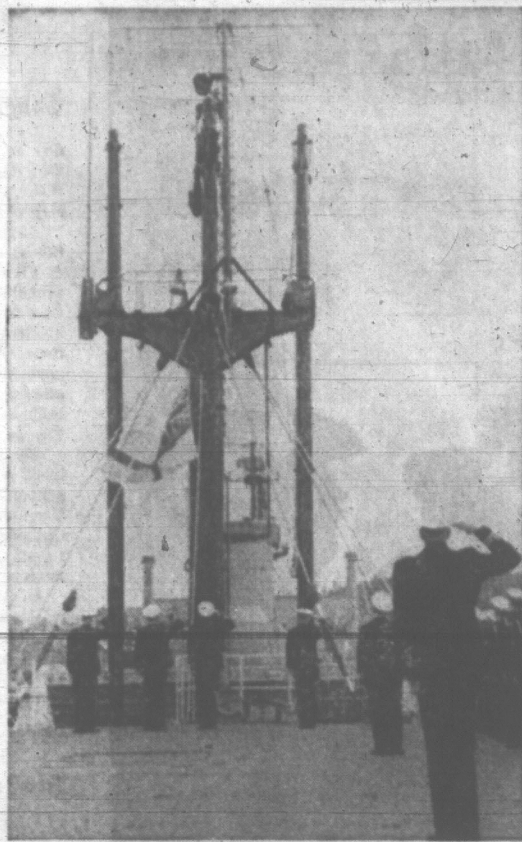

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief was obtained in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

CONCLUDING BRIEF CEREMONY, the lowering of the ship's ensign at 1:30 p.m. Monday marked the end of service in the RCN for HMCS Capé Breton, the Pacific Command's largest ship and its only fleet maintenance vessel. Paying-off into reserve was ordered in accordance with recently announced economies in defence expenditures. In a message to the commanding officer, Cmdr. I. A. McPhee, Rear Admiral W. M. Landymore said: "The skills and experience of the Cape Breton's people will still be available in the fleet in the redistribution of personnel." (RCN photo.)

Bircher Jeered At Uvic Forum

University of Victoria students jeered when right-wing U.S. extremist Don Karen, who is co-ordinator of the Washington State branch of the anti-Communist society, spoke at a political science forum Monday.

"I bet I'm the first live John Birch you've ever seen," said Mr. Karen, who is co-ordinator of the Washington State branch of the anti-Communist society.

He drew a chorus of derision, too, when he suggested some members of the U.S. Supreme Court aid the Communists.

(The John Birch Society has called for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren on this ground.)

200,000 MEMBERS

Mr. Karen said the society has been doubling its membership about once in six months and claims a membership of about 200,000.

The affirmed objective "to turn the tide against Communism" could be achieved by less than half of one per cent of the U.S. population, or 1,000,000, he said.

Communism is opposed on moral, religious and political grounds and cannot co-exist with democracy, Mr. Karen said.

LOCAL CONTROL

The society believes in decentralization of government with more individual responsibility and more local control.

Mr. Karen claimed news media had ignored a California senate investigation which he said cleared John Birch Society of charges of subversion, hate mongering, fascism and others.

Recent attacks on it and other rightist groups, he said, began in 1961 when Time reprinted from a Communist journal a detailed denouncement of Birchism.

Royal Romance Airing Urged By Dutch MPs

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — Members of parliament today called for an airing of the facts to "clear away the mystery" which led up to the announcement of the engagement of Princess Irene of The Netherlands.

The demands were made by the opposition Labor party's parliamentary leader, Anne Vondeling, and a member of the Catholic People's Party, W. K. M. Schmelzer, as parliament opened debate on the engagement of Irene, 24, to Prince Carlos of Bourbon-Parma, 33.

Vondeling scored the secrecy that surrounded Irene's recent conversion to Roman Catholicism and Queen Juliana's first announcement last Tuesday that Irene's engagement was off as "shocks" to the Dutch nation.

He said another "shock" was an interview, arranged by the Dutch ambassador in Madrid, in which Irene, Vondeling said, ignored Spain's lack of political and religious freedom.

Vondeling called for the ambassador's recall. "A member of the House of Orange must not become a pawn in the struggle for power in contemporary Spain," Vondeling said.

ASKS FOR FACTS

He also called for facts about a mysterious flight to Paris by Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard last Thursday.

"The information services failed utterly" and made Holland "the laughing stock" of other countries, Vondeling said.

REFUSAL by United States to recognize Communist China was described as "stupid" by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas in Hawaii Monday as he addressed peace corpsmen on their way to Thailand. "The policy of our country in closing its eyes to the Chinese mainland... always seemed to me the ultimate of stupidity," he said.

Gov't Mum On Culture

Where are the cultural grants promised in last fall's election?

The question was asked again in the legislature Monday.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan recalled that Oak Bay Social Credit candidate Dr. Charles Ennals had made the "announcement" that the government would set up a cultural grants commission.

"I have searched the estimates in vain for an indication that this promise is going to be kept," he said.

There was no answer from the government side of the House.

Rights Bill Over Hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Overwhelming House approval of a sweeping civil rights bill gave its backers new confidence today that they could get the measure safely past a certain Senate filibuster.

After nine days of debate and action on 138 amendments, the House passed the bill Monday night by a vote of 290 to 130. It is designed to wipe out discrimination in voting, public accommodations, employment, education and use of federal funds.

The bill now goes to the Senate where it faces a determined southern effort to talk it to death. No attempt to start debate is expected until late this month, however.

President Johnson hailed the House vote as "an historic step forward for the cause of human dignity in America." In a White House statement he added:

"Now the task is for the Senate. I hope the same spirit of nonpartisanship will prevail there to assure passage of this bill, guaranteeing the fundamental rights of all Americans."

Voting for the bill were 152 Democrats and 138 Republicans. Opposed were 96 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

THE EDMONTON JOURNAL, Friday, December 27, 1963

Test Run One of the big Canadian railway stories this year has been the Canadian National Railways' drive to gain new passengers and attract former patrons back to the rails. To find out what the CNR is doing Journal reporter Pat Johnson and photographer Owen Templeton took a trip for these stories and pictures.

CNR's COFFEE-BAR LUNCH CAR... comfort at 75 m.p.h.

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME, AND THEN SOME... train travel revolutionized

All Aboard And Forget Your Woes

Bingo! That's the rage today on the Canadian National Railway.

Train travel just "ain't" the way it used to be.

Remember when all you could do on a train was sit?

Remember eating box lunches in the dusty day coach?

The shunting of cars at whistle stops in the middle of the night?

HAVE A BALL.

It's all changed. Today you can ride on the CNR Super-Continental and have a ball.

"Play the miles away," is that the promise CN is living up to now?

Brought in Red, White and Blue. With this new travel plan and its slashed rates, improved schedules and personalized service, the railway is really pulling 'em in.

And it's keeping 'em happy, too.

BIG FAN

Mrs. Lionel Holby of Prince Rupert is a big fan of CN's nightly bingo games.

"It's wonderful. It's getting that I hate to go to bed, I'm having such a good time."

Bingo, booze, coffee parties—even room service—You name it.

Just want to sit and read? Go to the sitting lounge with its wide picture windows and bright overhead lights. Magazines are free.

Hungry? Try the quick service dinette. Food is good; prices no higher than the cafe around the corner.

CATCHING ON

This new way to travel is really catching on. In November—the first full month of CN's Red, White and Blue—the railway's mountain region toted up a 40 per cent passenger sale increase over the year before.

You never know who you're going to meet on the train anymore. Everyone's doing it. Teenagers, pensioners, housewives, businessmen—entire families, dogs and all.

To the Rancier family from Ottawa, it was CN's new rate structure that made their travel decision for them.

They planned to visit grandparents in Visking for Christmas and had bought a new station wagon to make the trip. Then they heard of Red, White and Blue.

FORGET WORRIES

As CN porter Earl Ramsay says: "With our new plan, people can just step on the train and forget their worries."

That's just what the Ranciers with their four children decided to do. They left their station wagon behind, but brought their dog along.

On the decision, small daughter Frances passed this verdict: "I like it. We get to play all the way."

And sister Linda added: "Yes, and we never have to wait to have something to eat or to go to the bathroom."

FREE MEALS

For many passengers, it's CN's complimentary meal plan that's earning most compliments. With only one class of fare under Red, White and Blue, purchase of any sleeping accommodation in addition to the standard ticket—either the standard ticket—either berth, roomette, bedroom or compartment—entitles the passenger to free meals.

In the train's diner.

"And the food's terrific," according to Edmontonian Kathy Sherratt of 9515 99th St.

Although the diner has somewhat streamlined the extensive food selection once available, the daily menu always includes a choice of three kinds of dishes: meat, fish and salad.

Typical fare might include ham, curried scallops—lobster salad.

PLAY THE MILES AWAY... Bingo, an added travel feature

BUBBLY STUFF

And for those who like the bubbly stuff, there's a selection of fine table wines to add a cosmopolitan touch.

The spirit of this is continued as well in the train's club lounge. Here, many a businessman may be seen relaxing over a quiet drink and a bowl of pretzels.

They're barred, though, between 10 and 11 a.m. each morning. Then, the lounge is zoned: children only. It becomes a mobile playground tended by bartender-turned-nursemaid.

Meanwhile, adults can relax in the sitting lounge, adjacent to the cocktail bar. In both, flowing drapes, thick rugs, smart upholstered swivel chairs justify CN's claim to a living room on wheels.

Between 10 and 11 a.m. each morning, CN holds "hospitality hour" in the sitting lounge. Passengers are encouraged to gather here each day for free coffee and to meet new friends. A magazine library is available.

For some travellers, it's the small things that mean the most. There was one man, for instance, who just "couldn't get over" making in the morning to wash his shoes had been polished "spit clean" during the night.

Thank you, Pat and Owen!

A Deeper Chasm

GENERALISSIMO CHIANG Kai-shek's government on Formosa has resolved General de Gaulle's dilemma. By breaking diplomatic relations with France it has relieved France of the task of breaking relations with Taipei. For it was obvious that France could not continue to recognize two such contradictory elements as the Peking and Taipei regimes. It is clear that President Chiang Kai-shek has merely beaten Paris to the punch.

The results will not be so tidy as this diplomatic disengagement. They greatly increase the gulf between France and the United States — the latter being committed to support Chiang Kai-shek all the way. And they make more inevitable the eventual struggle in the United Nations, where any bid for Nationalist China's membership will now find the Western allies seriously split on the issue. This is a time when Chiang Kai-shek, his power waning, might be driven to some desperate action to restore his fortunes.

In a hemisphere where "face" is all-important, Peking has won a resounding victory. The rest of Asia is watching — particularly southeast Asia — and a further move by de Gaulle to advance his neutralization proposal in Viet Nam may draw much more interest than before.

But the United States must avoid even the appearance of considering such a settlement, for the basic strength of the South Viet Nam government among the country's peasants consists in making itself preferable to the Communist insurgents. The farmers cannot be expected to suffer hardship, even death, to support the government if there is a possibility that the government may suddenly come to an arrangement with the Communists. United States aid must be continued with this in mind.

It is noteworthy, however, that Mr. Walter Lippmann and other international observers have suggested that Washington should avoid closing the door entirely on de Gaulle's solution. They recognize that for the time being the war must be prosecuted. But it is not a war in which the United States wants to become submerged — as France was before it.

A jungle war under Viet Nam conditions can become endless. Even with an average expenditure of well over a million American dollars a day, very little headway has been made against the Communists. President Johnson has said that if both North and South Viet Nam were to be neutralized, the idea would be considered with some sympathy. Obviously he believed neutralization of the North to be impossible — although there is some speculation that Hanoi might be glad to get out from under Red China's thumb.

The chief danger, of course, is that the Communists would use neutralization merely as an opportunity for quiet infiltration and eventual control. Laos is a sad example of neutralization; it remains an area of chaos and intrigue in which trouble could flare up at any moment. There would be no gain for world peace in duplicating such conditions in Viet Nam.

A Co-operative Approach Needed

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S THREE government-supported universities did not need the figures of the latest provincial budget to drive home the truth that from now on there is going to be keen competition not only in the academic field but in the demand for dollars.

The University of B.C., the not-yet-built Simon Fraser University and the University of Victoria all asked for more money than they have been allocated in the budget. All will have to get along with less than they require to finance their plans for the coming year. And each must feel to some extent that the demands of the other two inevitably left less in the public coffers for its own needs.

Two obvious facts emerge from this condition of shared scarcity. In the first place, the government will have to recognize that both for campus construction and for operations, long-range planning must be set up. Year-to-year budgeting can solve only part of the problem. There can be no hope that the budgets will become any less as time goes on. The sheer weight of numbers imposed by the rapidly increasing university population makes that plain. And the growing complexity of skills and disciplines in higher education will impose an even greater cost of equipment and teaching. A long-view program of financing is therefore essential.

But with this it will be equally necessary for the universities to achieve a high degree of co-operation and co-ordination in their work. Duplication, particularly of highly specialized studies, must be avoided wherever possible. And there must be a large measure of unity in the university demands made on government both within and outside the jurisdiction of the proposed advisory board. A dog-eat-dog approach against a background of constant struggle to win favor at Victoria, would wreck the promising future of higher education in this province and the three universities as well.

Mr. Macleod in the Wings

MR. HAROLD MACMILLAN'S formal notice to his Bromley constituency that he will not seek re-election when the country goes to the polls some time before November comes almost as an epilogue to a remarkable career.

This means that within the year Parliament will have lost two of its former Prime Ministers. Sir Winston Churchill last May announced his decision to retire.

The impending departure of these stalwart figures comes at a time when a younger colleague, whose dissatisfaction with current party leadership is widely known, has indicated his determination to take over the Tory leadership, not soon, but eventually.

Mr. Iain Macleod, who left the cabinet when Mr. Macmillan stepped down, refusing to serve under Sir Alec Douglas-Home, has made his position clear.

The party, he argues, needs to present a new and progressive image to win the support of the new classless society and to win back traditional supporters like school-teachers and hospital nurses.

This is the sort of talk he has been giving to the left-wing "Bow Group" within the Conservative ranks. And he has left the direct impression that the changes he advocates need a new type of leader — Mr. Iain Macleod.

There is little chance of Mr. Macleod winning early popularity and preference among the current leaders of the Conservative Party in Britain. He is not now well-beloved.

But this seems of relatively little concern to the man who stepped out of the British cabinet into the editorial chair of the Spectator. Mr. Macleod sees Tory prospects darkly in the immediate future. He shares the general opinion that the government will be changed after the next election and the Conservatives may spend some time in the wilderness.

When they are eventually returned he believes the Tories will be more representative of the people, and will appear in new guise and under new leadership. He leaves little doubt about whom he thinks should provide that leadership.

And if he is less than popular now, he can point to the precedent of Sir Winston Churchill, whose voice counted little in the 1930s but rose to splendor and authority in the succeeding decade.

Now in his 50s, Mr. Macleod can afford to wait.

In the Grey Flannel Czech

A REPORT FROM CZECHOSLO-vakia announces a campaign of the Madison Avenue type to encourage producers of the Western world to advertise their goods for sale on Czech television and film strips.

Apparently the scheme involves the suave presentation of the men in the grey flannel Czech and, hopefully, will lead to higher sales of western goods behind the "curtain."

If it succeeds only in the export of so many North American commercials that a scarcity exists on this continent, TV viewers here will be the first to applaud the triumph of the Czech promoters.

MRS. NOGGINS REPORTS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Two Cheers for Dief and Un-Unified Unity

AS A VOTING delegate to the recent Conservative convention in Ottawa, my Cockney neighbor, Mrs. Alfred Noggin, came home well satisfied with the results.

Hutchison

"Of course," she said, "there was some slight disagreement about Mr. Diefenbaker among the delegates, a few 'undred at most, and so, when they called for three cheers we compromised and satisfied everybody by givin' 'im two as proof of our undyin' loyalty."

"Well, I must say Dief made a wonderful speech. Year after year, at every convention, I always said it was a wonderful speech. Yes, sir, 'e re-dedicated 'imself. We all re-dedicated ourselves every hour on the hour, between the commercials. I feel so dedicated now that I'm fair bustin' my girdle."

"But the Conservative party wouldn't sink to sordid partisan politics by fightin' the Liberal government. No, sir, we kept public life on a 'high plane of principle by fightin' among ourselves."

"Anyway, the Grits were too stupid to understand our grand strategy. By makin' sure we'd lose the next election we've left Pearson wriglin' in the agonies of office and there's no escape for 'im so long as good old Dief is on the job. Maybe we were a little cruel to Mike but then, the welfare of the nation is more important than any man. With us Tories patriotism comes first."

FROM WASHINGTON

Realities in the Viet Nam Neutrality Case

By MAX FREEDMAN

WE do not need to speculate about North Viet Nam's intentions. Nor do we need the help of President de Gaulle to find out what they are. Ample evidence exists to prove that North Viet Nam does not agree with a policy of neutrality for itself or for North and South Viet Nam. On any other terms the concept of neutrality becomes a trap for the United States. The key to the policies of North Viet Nam has always been provided by its economic reasons. To feed its own people it needs the food resources of South Viet Nam. Neither China nor Russia can supply this food in adequate amounts.

Freedman

The attempt to control South Viet Nam rests on harsh economic reasons, not on a mere lust for territory. Even if the country could be unified, North Viet Nam would insist on being the preponderant partner.

This fact is well known to the leaders of South Viet Nam. It helps to explain their fear of all projects of unity or of neutrality on the terms familiar to us.

Ever since France recognized China, the suggestion has been heard that President de Gaulle might be able to use his new links with Peking to persuade North Viet Nam to accept a genuine policy of neutrality. This suggestion betrays a fatal misunderstanding of North Viet Nam's position in the communist world.

In the Middle

The constant purpose of North Viet Nam has been to follow a middle path in the Moscow-Peking quarrel. With growing dismay North Viet Nam has watched the increasing bitterness of that dispute. The government in Hanoi has thought that North Viet Nam will benefit by playing off Moscow against Peking. But this game has become uncomfortable as the stakes in the quarrel have grown more urgent.

The influence of China, which has increased in recent months, will not be used to guarantee a neutral Viet Nam. It is more interested in making North Viet Nam the agent and tool of Chinese policy. What is there in the fact of French recognition to make us believe that China will suddenly believe that a unified and truly neutral Viet Nam is in the best interests of the Peking government?

French and American officials are now returning different answers to this question. Fortunately we can look to a British scholar for an independent judgment. Mr. P. J. Honey of the University of London has an international reputation as an authority on Viet Nam. In his book, Communism in North Viet Nam, just published by the press of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Mr. Honey has demonstrated how little trust we can place in a neutral North Viet Nam. In the following paragraphs the initials DRV stand for the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, the communist name for North Viet Nam.

Mr. Honey writes that if an agreement on neutrality could be reached over South Viet Nam, "then a DRV victory would be virtually assured, for the United States soldiers would have to be withdrawn and could not return thereafter in the guise of SEATO forces. Better still, a neutral zone might be negotiated to cover Laos, South Viet Nam, and Cambodia."

"Later on possibly Thailand and Burma might be added to it. Settlements of this kind would get rid of the only element capable of resisting Communist expansion—the United States—and the neutrality of the countries concerned could easily be left intact until the moment was judged opportune for their annexation, one by one, by the Communist bloc."

"For the North Vietnamese leaders the prospect of a neutral South Viet Nam had an added attraction. Since the latter could no longer object to trade with North Viet Nam, South Vietnamese rice could be acquired, and the desperate food shortage in the north ended. During the latter part of 1962 and the early months of 1963, DRV propaganda campaigns appeared to be directed more toward extolling the advantages of a neutral South Viet Nam than toward increasing the scale of an urgent military operations there."

"Nevertheless, the military struggle continued unabated, for North Viet Nam appeared to be convinced by the arguments she had advanced about the Laotian settlement. Negotiation leading to eventual neutrality, if it were to prove successful, had to be preceded by victorious armed struggle."

"Since Ho Chi Minh (the North Viet Nam leader) was anxious to negotiate neutrality only for South Viet Nam and had no intention of removing the North from the Communist bloc, it would be necessary to induce in the United States a greater degree of weariness with the war and of frustration before she would agree to his demands."

There, and not in President de Gaulle's eloquent words, is a true description of the realities behind the campaign for neutrality in Viet Nam.

Schools Open to Indians

I noticed a letter in your newspaper a day or two ago whose writer suggested that discrimination against the Indians in B.C. is at least as great as that against Negroes in the Southern United States.

As far as school boards are concerned, this is certainly not the case.

Five years ago, at which time I was president of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, most of the school boards in British Columbia received Indian children, whose fees were paid by the federal government. I imagine that by this time all the school boards are "integrated." B.C. has always been in the forefront of this in Canada.

The reason that in and around Victoria itself so few Indian children go to public school is that the reservations on South Vancouver Island are mostly Roman Catholic and the children are encouraged to stay in the separate schools on the reservations.

In Alberni, however, where Protestant missionaries did most of the work of conversion, almost all high school Indian children, as well as numbers of elementary school children, attend the public schools of the district.

Strike and Conditions

I have often wondered what the thought of Victorians would be if the local shipyards were to give Joe Citizen a guided tour of their establishment.

Just recently you had an article in your paper about the serious "point of striking," being such a ridiculous way of settling differences between labor and management. I personally would like to know what other means there is for the working class. I do not want to see a strike nor does any other working man in the shipyards.

But when management refuses to improve such working conditions as, dirty and unheated lavatories; shops that are open to wintry blasts, and antiquated machinery from the First World War, what other alternative do we have? These conditions obviously are not helping the general health of the men who must go to work with various types of sicknesses rather than lose a day's pay or be laid off. I think this is why there is a strike and our reasons for asking for higher wages.

To sum it up, if we have to put up with these conditions, then we should be paid for it. We are not slaves but human beings. I hope you will let the people of Victoria know how most of the shipyard workers feel.

THE SHIPYARD PHILOSOPHER.

Strikes Are Obsolete

In western countries—a little more than a hundred years ago—men, women, and children worked 12 and 14 hours a day. They were treated and regarded as industrial slaves. Cleanliness, good housing, safety measures, workmen's compensation and so on, were a remote dream. And most important of all—neither working men or women possessed the right to vote. In a situation like this—plus the fact that change in ethical thinking depended on a liberal-minded few—strikes became truly necessary, which largely brought about the improvement and high standard of living which labor in Canada enjoys today.

But strikes should be out of date today. Adult men and women in Canada have the right to vote. Therefore any planned improvements for labor's future will come easier, from a party that labor elects to office.

Therefore from an ethical and common sense stand, all labor—including their leaders—should consider it their patriotic duty to outlaw strikes, and discard this outdated and bullying weapon. Meanwhile, labor should concentrate on electing their own party to power and substitute the money that would be wasted on crippling strikes, towards this objective.

With Shame and Horror

Many of us, indeed very many of us, will have seen with horror, and also shame, the heading:

A LONG TIME TAX-PAYING CITIZEN.

Quite Untrue and Stupid

I really feel that I must take exception to the letter headed "Always the Rich," written by an A. B. Marshall in connection with attendance at universities.

My university days started just after the end of the First World War, forty-five years ago. My father was a rather impecunious person. He and my mother made great personal sacrifices to keep my sister and me at university until we gained our Masters degrees—both "magna cum laude" by the way.

During term time I did various jobs around the university in my spare time. I worked during all my holidays. I worked on railway section gangs, sold magazines from door to door, wheeled gravel to an old-time concrete mixer, sold rocking-horses in the toy department of a big store, was assistant director of a Boy Scout camp. Also I had good fun, doing it and learned a lot that didn't come into university lectures.

I am quite sure there are hundreds—nay thousands—of people in Canada who hold degrees and have had rather similar backgrounds. There are thousands in Britain too, Christopher Marlowe, the son of the Canterbury cobbler who gained his Masters at Cambridge comes to my mind.

The "gentleman class" is a bit different. I have always considered myself that whatever mental sort of job I have had to do. Money has nothing to do with that.

The idea that the university is only and "always for the rich" is quite untrue and quite stupid.

...REPORTING

OTTAWA — One of John Diefenbaker's favorite similes is to compare some policy change of the Liberals to "the conversion of Saul on the road to Damascus."

That's always good for a laugh — in the Commons, on TV, on the hustings, or at a Tory convention.

Now John himself has been converted, on what until a week ago looked like the road to political oblivion.

His conversion is in favor of Leon Balcer, his erstwhile transport minister, whom he has appointed, anointed and proclaimed as his chief lieutenant for French Canada.

And by remarkable coincidence, all this happened on Feb. 4, just one year to the day after Mr. Balcer's conversion in favor of Mr. Diefenbaker.

Balcer is a pleasant, suavely handsome man of 47 who has represented Three Rivers, Que., in the Commons since 1949. Balcer and Three Rivers go together like cheese and apple pie — and no wonder. Three Rivers was the personal political property of his distant cousin and political mentor, Maurice Duplessis.

Balcer had married well, he commanded respect from the voters because he was a professional man, a lawyer, and his war service would command respect anywhere: four years in the RCNVR on tough, dirty North Atlantic convoy duty between Newfie John and Derry, out in '45 as a commander.

In his 15 years in Parliament he made one major mistake: in 1956 he let himself become a candidate for the Tory party leadership. Then, when the delegates had gathered and his bid was patently hopeless, he dropped out and threw his support behind Donald Fleming.

I remember asking Mr. Diefenbaker at the time what he thought of Mr. Balcer.

His reply was that Mr. Balcer was "a horse's hoof 15 hands high" — and he didn't mean a front hoof.

Time passed. Mr. Diefenbaker won the 1957 election, and grudgingly made Duplessis' cousin solicitor general, the meanest job in the cabinet. Three years later Balcer's stock had risen enough to prompt his promotion to the ministry of transport. In that job Balcer was barely adequate, and while Diefenbaker needed a Quebec lieutenant, he rejected Balcer.

Then came the cabinet cabal. Balcer was invited to join, but declined, correctly foreseeing its failure. Whether through loyalty, or fear of political suicide, Balcer handsomely made amends for 1956.

Then last fall, after years of undistinguished service in the Commons and cabinet, Balcer made a powerful anti-separatist speech in which he stated his credo as a Canadian with such eloquence that the Liberals applauded enthusiastically.

At the convention last week Diefenbaker attempted to take some of the credit for that speech. But I like to think that Balcer's strong Canadianism was born long ago, on the bridge of a corvette, in fog, in gales, in tense moments when Asdic's ping-ping-ping betrayed the Nazi wolf pack circling the convoy.

Then Diefenbaker made known his acceptance of Balcer as his chief Quebec lieutenant. He likened him to Georges-Etienne Cartier, the great lieutenant of Sir John A. Macdonald — a comparison by which Diefenbaker didn't suffer, — and in effect put him up as the Conservatives' answer to the Liberals' Guy Favreau.

Now Mr. Balcer must prove himself — either a leader and a molder of Quebec opinion, a genuine Cartier, or a pitiful figurehead, a front for the Tory party in Quebec.

STEEVES

'Strange Atmosphere' Within NDP

VANCOUVER (CP) — Former CCF MLA Mrs. Dorothy Steeves says she's not completely at home in the New Democratic Party. "There is a strange atmosphere I can't get used to."

The 70-year-old political worker described the "strange atmosphere" as a "sort of dilettantism."

Addressing a Vancouver East NDP meeting Sunday she said:

"In the past (in the CCF) we used to screen members to keep out right-wingers, but now they are screened to keep out left-wingers."

Mrs. Steeves, who joined the CCF when it was founded in 1932 and who served in the legislature from 1941 to 1945, said "I think we have got to bring more of that intense dedication we had in the early CCF into the NDP."

Harold Winch, long-time MP for Vancouver East, told the meeting that formation of the NDP out of the CCF and labor was only a change in packaging, with no change in the goods inside the package.

West German Rockets Have Full Approval

By JOHN WEYLAND

BONN (AP) — The West German production of guided military rockets, the subject of diplomatic notes from the Soviet Union last week, is carried out with the full approval of the organization which controls the nation's rearmament — the Western European Union.

After being long forbidden, West German rocket production was allowed to start three years ago. The weapons involved are the Cobra, Sidewinder and Hawk.

The Cobra, which was developed by West German scientists, is an anti-tank rocket. The U.S.-designed Sidewinder and Hawk are built in West Germany under licence. They are for use in bringing down enemy planes.

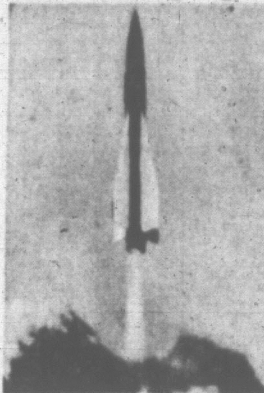

The three rockets all carry conventional, not nuclear, warheads.

The Soviet Union claimed that West Germany's rocket activity is intensifying tension in Europe and last Monday delivered notes about it to Washington, London, Paris and Bonn. The Western governments paid little attention, dismissing the notes as propaganda, and the West German rocket program will continue.

This program started late because in the immediate post-Second World War period the United States, Britain and France worried about the possible development of the new West German army. The memory of Hitler's first jets, the V rockets, and other technical innovations was fresh in people's minds.

LAI'D DOWN CONTROLS

In the 1954 Brussels treaty the three Western Allies laid down controls to apply to the new West German armed forces. The renunciation of atomic, biological and chemical weapons made by the then-chancellor Konrad Adenauer was formalized and limits were set on the size and effectiveness of many types of armaments. Rockets were banned altogether.

The ban and the limits were made subject to amendment by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Western European Union. These members are Britain, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and West Germany.

The necessary changes in the Brussels treaty for the West German rockets were granted after the Adenauer government established a reputation for being a loyal member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Today the official NATO position is that the West German armed forces should be provided with weapons as advanced as those with which NATO troops in Europe are equipped. What West Germany still cannot produce itself. It buys from its allies. These purchases include other rockets of many types.

Butterfly Sleeps in Clothes

The first butterfly we see in the spring is almost sure to be the mourning cloak, a brownish flyer with wings bordered with yellow and spotted with funeral purple. Despite its sombre garb it flits gaily among the early flowers and its presence gives us a lift as a sample of things to come.

By literally "sleeping in its clothes" all winter the mourning cloak is able to appear on the scene well ahead of competitors. While other butterflies are still in various stages of development our early rises is already busy sipping nectar and seeking out suitable places in which to lay her eggs.

Some of the adults resulting from these eggs will survive the hazards of summer and early fall and eventually will secrete themselves in some sheltered spot, perhaps beneath the bark of a dead tree or under the eaves of an old building. Here they will sleep several months until aroused by the first warm spell of spring.

All species of insects are faced with the problem of passing the winter. This involves existing through an inactive period which may be many months in length or which may be only a matter of weeks.

Actually, four problems have to be solved in order to survive the winter. Each individual has to eke out its food reserve; it has to avoid becoming frozen; it has to conserve its moisture; and it has to escape being eaten by some predator. It is not surprising that insects, a most resourceful group of creatures, have licked these problems in a variety of ways.

Many spend the winter in the egg stage which is a simple way of solving all the difficulties because the egg merely remains undeveloped until spring; it resists a considerable amount of frost; it is covered by a water-tight skin; and finally it is so small and readily concealed it has a good chance of escaping being eaten.

Some insects pass the winter as larvae under cover which protects them from the weather as well as from predators.

Others winter as a chrysalis which is a resting stage before the insect becomes an adult. In this condition the animal is usually protected by a cocoon or by being hidden in some sheltered spot.

A few, such as the mourning cloak butterfly, the wasp and the earwig, tide over the unfavorable season in the adult stage by simply sleeping until living conditions improve.

By allowing its body processes to slow almost to a standstill each hibernator conserves its energy for an indefinite period. During the long sleep loss of moisture is prevented by the watertight skin which all insects wear. Freezing of tissues is avoided by a neat trick — the jellylike substance found in all living cells changes to an inactive state which can withstand many degrees of frost with no damage.

With the help of these remarkable adaptations and a modicum of luck as far as predators and diseases are concerned, the various species of insects survive until spring when they will once more appear to please us or to plague us as the case may be.

CHIANG'S DECISION

De Gaulle Off Diplomatic Hook

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — Nationalist China's decision Monday to break relations with France took President de Gaulle off a diplomatic hook.

De Gaulle's reported hope of re-establishing French influence in Southeast Asia hinged on his decision last month to recognize Communist China. And Communist China was dragging its feet until ties were severed between France and the Nationalists.

At his press conference Jan. 31, de Gaulle said he recognized Communist China as the government of the mainland, Nationalist China as the government of Formosa.

The decision by Taipei appeared to be exactly what de Gaulle wanted. It saved him from the embarrassment of cutting ties with his old friend, President Chiang Kai-shek.

There was no immediate public reaction from French officials, who recently had indicated France was preparing to initiate the break itself.

Only 24 hours after France and Communist China announced Jan. 27 their intention to exchange ambassadors, Peking made a public demand for France to break relations with Formosa.

No public move was made by either France or Communist China to start their new relationship rolling with an exchange of charge d'affaires. Suddenly, France notified Taipei that charge d'affaires would be exchanged and Taipei broke relations.

After an emergency cabinet meeting Monday night, the Nationalist Chinese foreign office in Taipei declared:

"This action by the French government has damaged beyond repair the existing relations between the Republic of China and France."

The announcement left Nationalist Chinese officials in Paris bewildered. They said they had no hint of the move and were expecting France to take the initiative.

The Gaullist newspaper Figaro said the Nationalist action was a "solution of good sense (that) clarifies the situation. It spares a certain number of problems... which would have been particularly painful since the decision taken by the French government in regard to Peking did nothing to remove the esteem that Frenchmen have for old Marshal Chiang Kai-shek."

The mass circulation France-Soir said Chiang also had been in an embarrassing position because "all of his power, all of his administration, are founded on the fiction that his government alone represents China."

The U.S. state department, which urged the Nationalists to withhold a diplomatic break with France, said Taipei's decision "is understandable."

SYNOPSIS — The storm which moved inland over the south coast Monday night, accompanied by blustery westerly winds, showers of rain and snow on the coast and snow flurries in the interior, moved into Alberta this morning.

Rapid clearing occurred behind the storm as a ridge of high pressure built in over the coast and most areas in B.C. will get sunshine today.

The first in the next series of Pacific disturbances will bring southeasterly gales and rain to the Charlottes this afternoon. Rain will spread to the south coast Wednesday. Snow flurries are expected in the Bulkley Valley regions tonight and a few snow flurries may also be expected in the Okanagan by Wednesday afternoon.

Soviet Cuts Japanese Steel Imports

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and the Soviet Union Monday signed an agreement calling for $154,000,000 in Japanese exports to the Soviet Union and the sale of $142,000,000 in Soviet goods to Japan in 1964.

The agreement sets the trade volume for the second year in a three-year increase in Japanese exports to Russia and a 13 per cent increase in Russian sales to Japan over the previous year.

A major feature of the second-year agreement is that it calls for a drastic cut in the Russian purchase of Japanese rolled steel materials, the foreign ministry said.

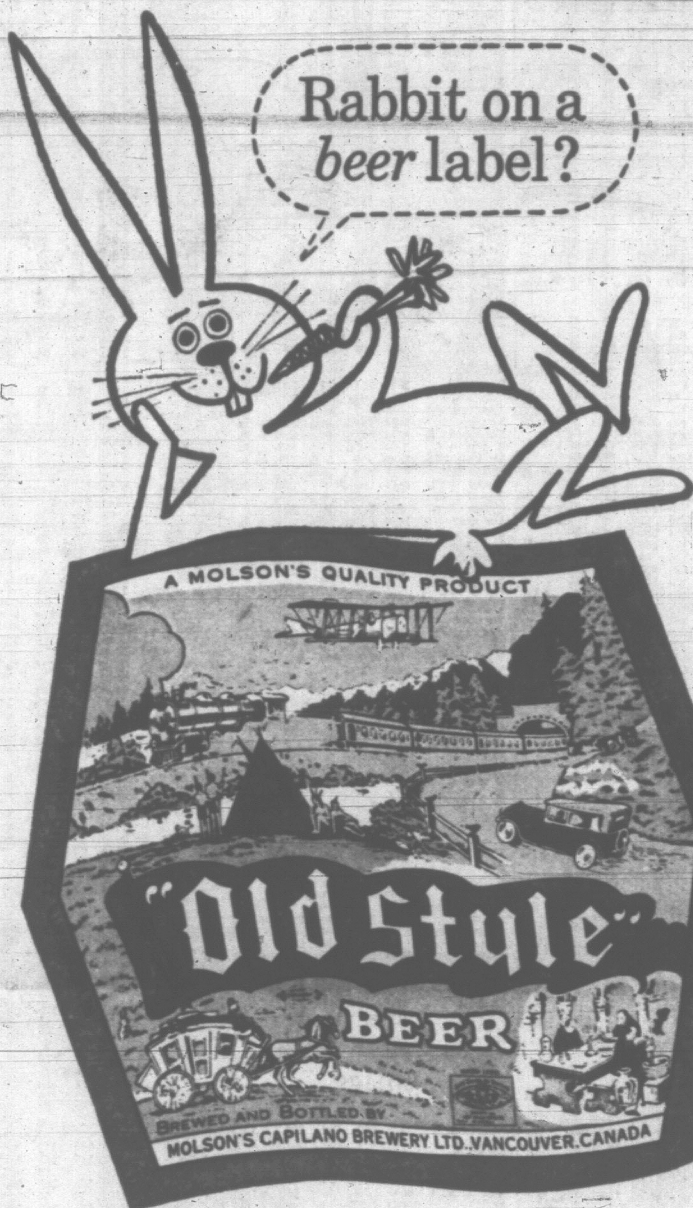

Japanese industry circles are reported dissatisfied over this since they contracted to import at least 800,000 tons of Soviet pig iron in anticipation of large steel sales to the Soviet Union.

How Fast Can You Read?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to double your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher, anyone, regardless of his present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve his reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in a new book, "Advances in Reading Improvement" mailed free to anyone who requests it. ## 'Who'll Buy Canada Back?'

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Who is going to "buy Canada back" from the foreign investors who dominate nearly every field of business and industry in this country?

Finance Minister Gordon Bell clearly intends that somehow, by application of carrot-and-stick taxation policies, the federal government is going to accomplish this task.

Mr. Bryden also pointed out that policyholders must be given consideration in investment programs since they have bought "guaranteed" values with their premiums which must be matched by "guaranteed" investments—fixed-dollar liabilities of the insurance firm must be matched by fixed-dollar assets.

So far as the earning power of common stocks is concerned, Mr. Bryden says, in recent years values seem to have been rising faster than dividends. For the last three or four years common stock yields have been less than the yields obtainable on fixed dollar obligations.

"For example," he says, "in Canada the investment return on mortgages is about 6% to 7 per cent. Good quality corporate bonds are available at yields of 5% to 5.5 per cent; government and municipal bonds yield from 5 to 6 per cent. With common stocks yielding 2 1/2 to 4 per cent, it is difficult enough to justify even maintaining the proportion of common stock investment, let alone significantly increasing it."

After all these considerations, there is a final hurdle to be taken into account and it is one which is facing all types of Canadian institutional investors as well as individuals.

As Mr. Bryden says, "the supply of investment grade common shares in Canada leaves something to be desired."

Common stocks eligible under the Insurance Act number about 306. However, of these, some 200 are either so closely held or so seldom traded that for practical purposes the effective number of issues is cut to about 106.

Oge effect of Mr. Gordon's withholding tax legislation, if a significant number of foreign-owned companies offer common stock to Canadians, would be to increase the supply of investment grade shares.

ACCEPTABLE? Just how effective, though, will depend on whether or not the gimmick of issuing preferred voting stock in foreign-owned companies to Canadian "friends" is accepted by the government as an adequate measure for returning minority control to this country. If it is accepted it will make no contribution to easing the shortage of supply of investment grade stocks.

To get back to Mr. Bryden, however, he makes it quite clear in his report that so far as his company is concerned—and most life insurance companies seem to be in agreement—there is no hope of raising substantial amounts of money to "buy Canada back" from this source.

Additionally, stocks selected to have a seven-year dividend history of at least a 4 per cent yield on their stated value.

Further restraint is added by a provision that while certain senior government bond issues can be carried at their amortized value, other bonds and all common shares must be valued at market a year end and in a sharply depressed market could force the company to write down assets, set up an investment reserve or earmark a surplus to cover this deficiency.

Mr. Bryden also pointed out that policyholders must be given consideration in investment programs since they have bought "guaranteed" values with their premiums which must be matched by "guaranteed" investments—fixed-dollar liabilities of the insurance firm must be matched by fixed-dollar assets.

'U.S. Can Afford Best of Health'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, declaring that Americans need, want and can afford "the best of health," urged the United States Congress Monday to vote medical insurance for the aged this year.

In a special message to Congress on health problems, Johnson also announced he is creating a commission on heart disease, cancer and strokes to find ways by the end of this year to reduce the hazards of these diseases by developing new knowledge and better using existing knowledge.

The first item in the presidential message was hospital insurance for the aged—a controversial program that has been before Congress for at least four years.

Spelling out the principal goals of his proposal, Johnson recommended that the insurance program be financed in part by increasing the annual earnings subject to social security taxes to $5,200 from $4,800.

Johnson said insurance benefits should be available to everyone who reaches 65. If the worker is not covered by the social security program, he said, the cost of insurance should be paid for out of appropriations.

BEAUTIFUL Swedish actress Britt Eklund, 21, will marry British actor Peter Sellers, 36. They met for first time in London 10 days ago, and Monday Sellers phoned Miss Eklund in New York to pop the question. She answered "yes" and is expected to fly back to Britain this week. (AP Wirephoto.)

Judas Label Placed on U.S. Negro Diplomat

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI)—An official government party newspaper Monday attacked U.S. negro diplomat Emerson Player as a "judas" for defending the U.S. flag and hinted of possible expulsions of more Americans from Ghana.

Player received a personal message from President Johnson, commending him for "your bravery in protecting the American flag."

When a mob of Ghanians pulled down the U.S. flag during anti-American demonstrations at the embassy last week, Player rushed out, seized the banner and ran it up the staff.

"I am proud to be an American," was Player's comment when he received Johnson's message.

FIX THEM PROPER

But the Ghanaian Times, publication of President Kwame Nkrumah's Convention Peoples Party, denounced all American negro diplomats as "skunks and judases," and said:

"We in Africa are prepared to fix them proper."

Denouncing suggestions that Player be awarded a medal for his deed, the Times said:

"One would think that Player would be the last one to perform such a disgraceful and shameful act. For no people have suffered more under the yoke of Yankee arrogance and racialism than Afro-Americans."

"Yet Player and several others of his stripe have distinguished themselves in our country by engaging in all sorts of nefarious activities designed to impede the march of African revolution."

"Indeed, it has been observed with regret that black Americans work twice as hard as whites in spreading vicious rumors, attempting to corrupt your youth with money and gifts and false tales of the happy lot of Black Americans."

$21,000 Theft Charge Against Oil Executive

VANCOUVER (CP)—Louis C. Cranwell, 60-year-old business man, was remanded to Wednesday and released on $2,000 bail Monday when he appeared in police court charged with stealing $21,000 from a company of which he was president.

He surrendered to police after a warrant was issued for his arrest on information laid by directors of Prudential Petroleum Limited. He is charged with theft of the money while he was president of the company last June.

Police said the Crown will allege that a $21,000 cheque was issued to Collingwood Investments Limited, a company of which Cranwell now is president, and Collingwood then purchased 200,000 shares of Prudential in its own name for $20,000.

Beatles 'Fiendish Revenge'

NEW YORK (AP)—Who, besides squealing teen-age fans, likes the Beatles?

A symphony orchestra conductor, for one. He comes from England, home of the mop-topped quartet.

Not evangelist Billy Graham, however. "I'm afraid I'm on a different wave length," he said Monday.

And for the U.S. press came editorial criticism. The Washington Post suggested that "the British are taking fiendish revenge" for U.S. exports of rock 'n' rollers to the British Isles in past years.

The Beatles answered with one voice Monday when asked how they added up their success.

"Money," they chorused at a press conference.

The Beatles made their U.S. television debut Sunday night on the Columbia Broadcasting System's Ed Sullivan show. Hundreds of teen-agers, mostly girls, mostly screaming, besieged the quartet at the studio and their hotel.

Tonight they perform at the 8,000-seat coliseum in Washington. It's sold out.

GOOD ENTERTAINERS

In Pittsburgh, John Pritchard, conductor of the London Philharmonic, said Monday: "Really, despite the fantastic ballyhoo, I find them good entertainers... their numbers are extremely good, absolutely technically all right—both harmonically and rhythmically."

Billy Graham, in Ann Arbor, Mich., said the Beatles were "part of the trend toward escapism."

In Houston, Tex., Principal George A. Skipper of Spring Branch High School, after dealing with half a dozen boys who tried to wear Beatle-bang hair styles, said: "I think they (the Beatles) look terrible and as far as I can tell they don't even have any talent."

The Washington Post opined: "The mop-like appendage on the Beatle skull produces a look of amiable idiocy that we fear will have fatal charm for American adolescents."

The Milwaukee Sentinel said in its editorial: "Fortress America has been breached. The Beatles, unkempt, untalented, lunatic noisemakers, are inside our gates."

"The kindest thing we can say about their homeland is that here is the final crushing evidence that the sun has finally set on the British Empire."

B.C. Overtaxed $40 Million Says Perrault

British Columbians are being $40,000,000 overtaxed this year, Liberal Leader Ray Perrault declared Monday.

He told the legislature that Premier Bennett will end up with a surplus nest egg of $48,000,000 if this year's budget follows past patterns.

He said the premier consistently underestimates the amount of money he will receive and overestimates the amount he will spend in his provincial budgets.

The difference between estimated revenue and what was actually received over the past five years amounts to $89,600,000, Mr. Perrault said.

The difference between estimated and actual spending amounts to $102,000,000 over the same period, he said.

12.15% ERROR
"The average error of the minister is 12.15 per cent of his estimated revenue," said the Liberal leader.

On the basis of this, said Mr. Perrault, B.C.'s revenue in the new budget year will be $417,825,000, instead of $396,000,000.

And by the same token, government spending will be only $370,000,000 instead of $395,000,000.

One example of the error in estimates, Mr. Perrault said, is in the revenue from the sales tax.

$101 MILLION
He predicted that by March 31 the sales tax will bring in $101,000,000 instead of the $96,100,000 estimated by the premier last year.

Gasoline and fuel taxes have increased revenue almost 11 per cent since 1958, Mr. Perrault said, yet the premier has estimated for an increase of only 3½ per cent this year.

"Are we to see this vital area of gasoline, motive fuel and fuel oil suddenly slow their rate of growth to one-third of the level of the last five years?"

"Let us be more realistic. Let us have estimates which clearly indicate the government's resources and their intentions."

Mr. Perrault said the people of B.C. are being "terribly overtaxed."

"They are to be overtaxed by about $40,000,000," he said. The money, he said, could be used for social welfare.

MISLEADING
"A reasonable margin of error is certainly understandable, but on the mammoth scale indulged in by this government it is grossly misleading."

Mr. Perrault also attacked the government's bookkeeping on the PGE Railway.

According to the government's method of calculating depreciation PGE equipment would have to last 73 years and its buildings 125 years.

A revised depreciation "which recognizes the mortality of the charges" would leave the PGE with a deficit of more than $5,000,000, Mr. Perrault said.

"Let's subsidize it with $6,000,000 and then we'll all know where we stand and the railway will be an honest operation instead of a doubtful question mark," he added.

Tax Spiral Spawns An Idiot's Delight

"Idiots with a lot of money" should not be allowed to grab all B.C.'s beautiful rural land, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said Monday.

He complained in the legislature about discriminatory rural taxes, and urged an overhaul of the Equalization Assessment Act.

Because rural mill rates are fixed, he said, taxes leap when assessments go up.

UP 300%
Rural school taxes have climbed 300 per cent since 1952, Mr. Strachan said, and property taxes have more than doubled.

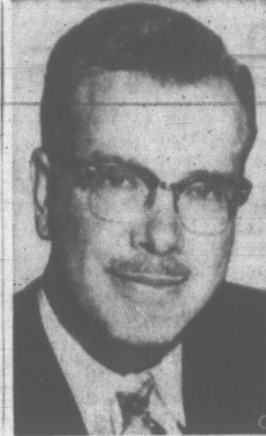

"That's all from these new pulp mills," Premier Bennett interjected.

Mr. Strachan quoted a Victoria Times story about people faced with the loss of their homes because of increased assessments.

"This is discrimination against rural areas of the province," he said.

He said dozens of families have been driven from their land.

"The beautiful places of this province shouldn't become private preserves of some idiots with a lot of money," he said.

Shared Services Program For Parochial Schools

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Roblin Monday ruled out direct financial assistance to Manitoba's parochial schools, but proposed they participate in a shared services program with public schools.

Mr. Roblin said the proposal, which calls for the establishment of a special legislative committee to study it in detail, was made after "some painful heart-searching" on the government's part for "many, many months."

"We entirely rejected systems used in Ontario and Saskatchewan which allow some tax funds to go to private schools," he told a press conference after announcing the plan in the legislature.

The proposal would allow students of private schools affiliating with a public school division or district to receive public school services in the public school, under public school regulations at public expense.

Private schools—the majority of which are Roman Catholic parochial institutions—would remain independent and devoid of public financial support as they have been since the School Act of 1890. Parents of children attending them would remain liable for public school taxes.

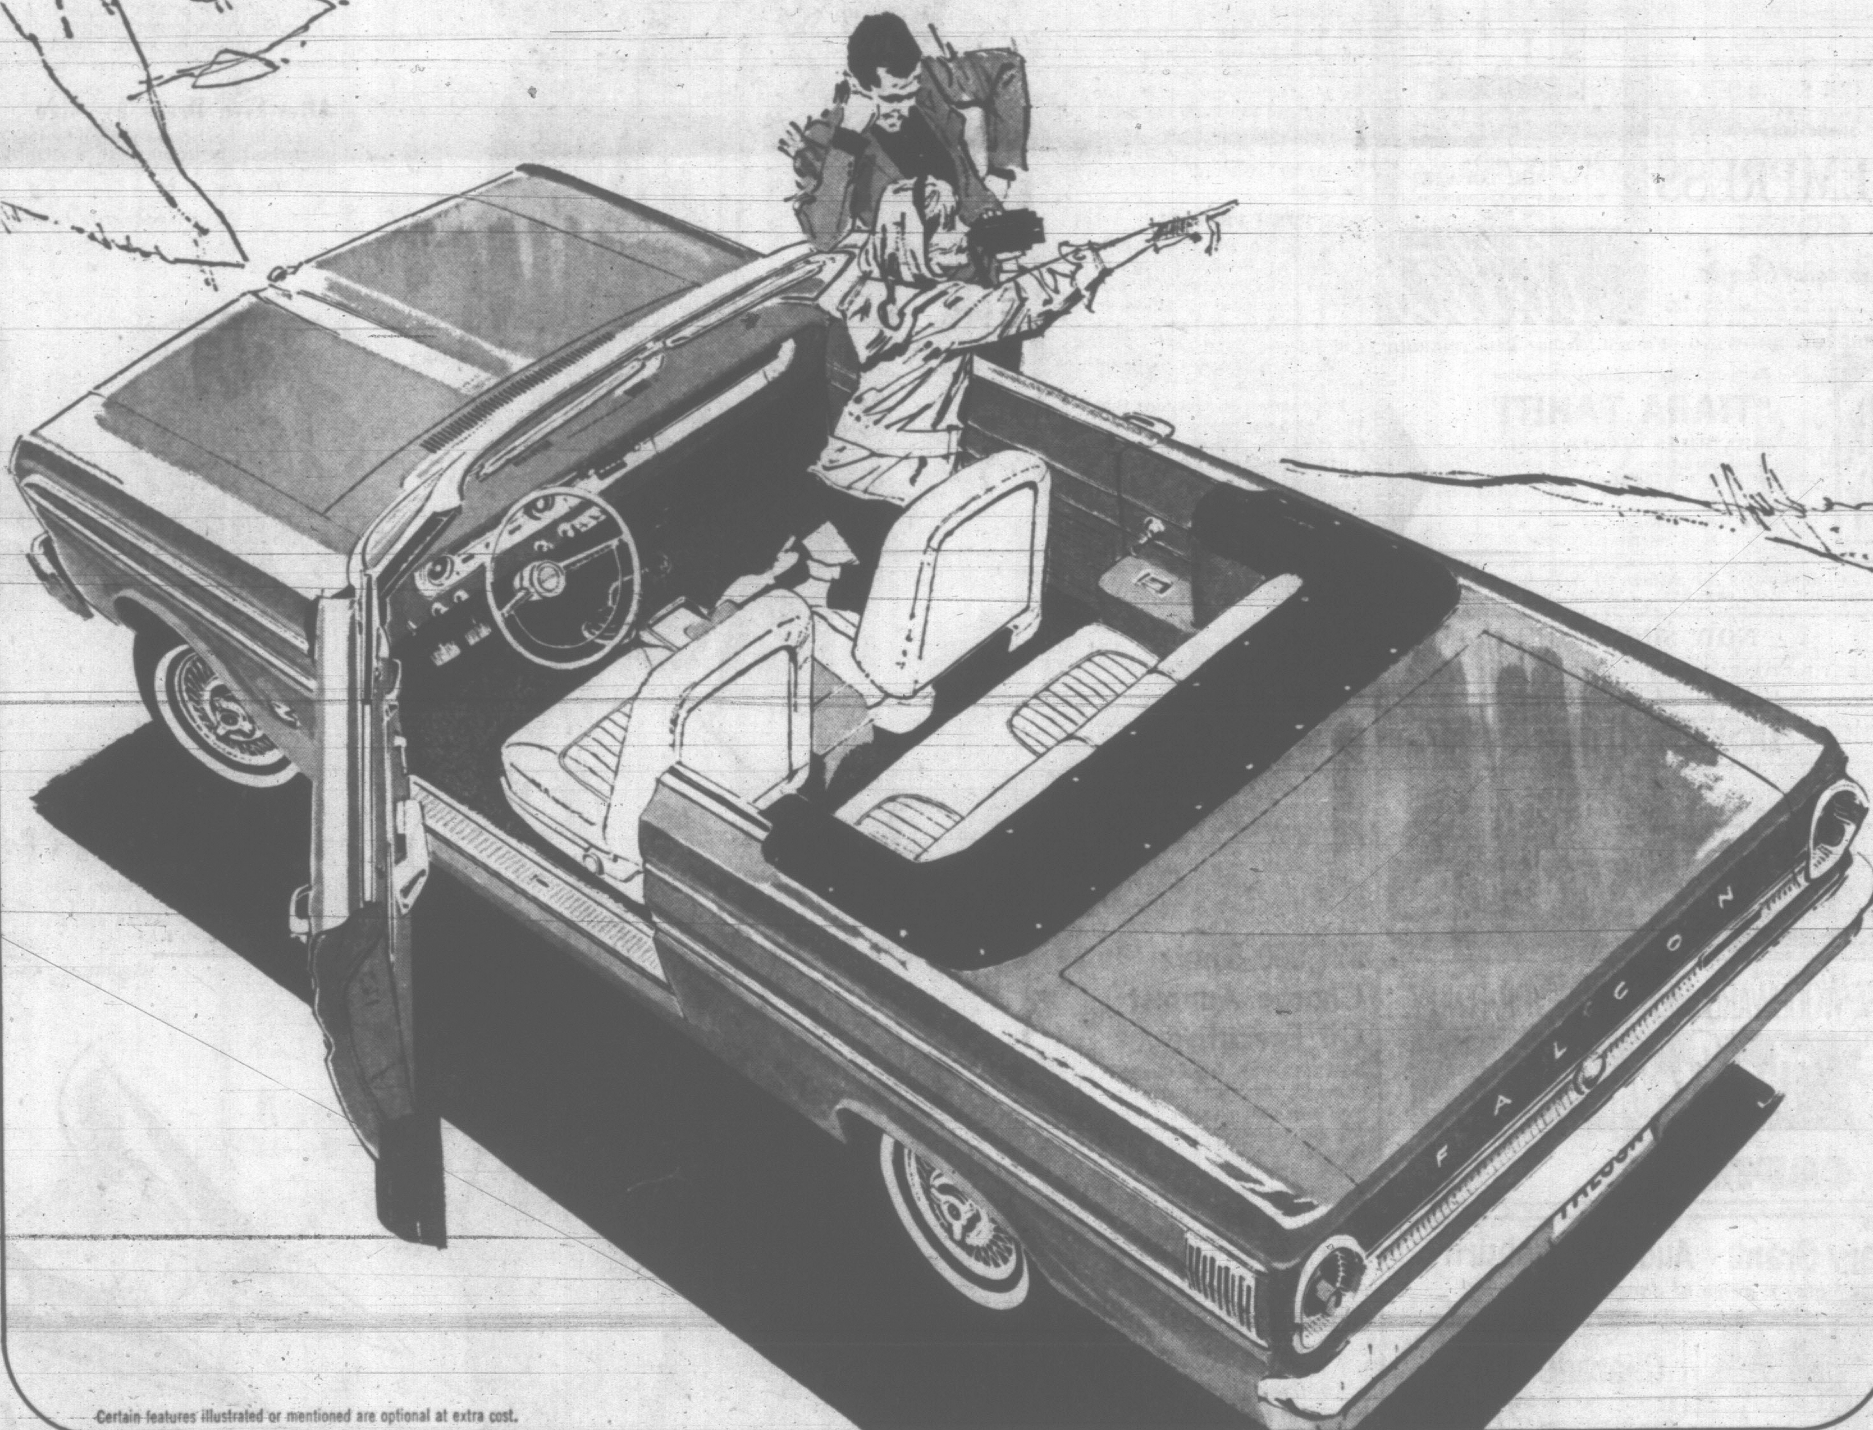

While Mr. Roblin would not spell out further details of the proposal, he said he envisaged instruction in private school classrooms.

"In general terms anything available at the public school could be offered," he said. "This will be up to the special committee to decide."

'Brain Drain' Jokes Have Hollow Sound

LONDON (CP)—British wits are still able to whip up a bit of whimsy about the "brain drain" to the United States, but the humor is distinctly rueful today.

The weekend announcement that Professor Ian Bush, 35, and his nine-member research staff from Birmingham University are moving to the U.S. has been followed by reports that a cancer expert and a leading physicist also are going.

And today another leading physicist, Dr. John Anthony People, 38, superintendent of the basic physics division at the National Physical Laboratory, announced that he is going to Pittsburgh to the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

One cartoonist depicts a group of dollar-hungry scientists in bathmat-type haircuts of the kind worn by the Liverpool singing foursome, the Beatles, in their spectacular and lucrative visit to the U.S.

And another wit has started a rumor that terrible-tempered Quintin Hogg, the education "supremo" and science minister, also has been offered a job in the land of the Yankee dollar.

It was Hogg, then Viscount Hailsham, who comforted his countrymen a year ago by saying the U.S. lured away British scientists simply because American high schools were inferior.

WORK HAMPERED

"The reason I am going is that my work is very seriously hampered by financial difficulties," said Bush, an authority on the treatment of mental illness by drugs.

Bush said some scientists had used the threat of emigration as "blackmail" to obtain increased grants but this worked to the detriment of other research workers.

"The only thing that would have made me change my mind would be a major policy change by the government in their attitude toward university finance."

"You could make the situation very much better by the expenditure of £20,000,000 a year spread over the necessary agencies. You could revolutionize the situation with the sum of £60,000,000 or £70,000,000 a year."

With an election in the offing, the new departures have caused a political storm and a Labor member asked in Parliament Monday night that Prime Minister Douglas-Home set up a royal commission to study the problem.

All this appears to be ammunition for Labor Leader Harold Wilson who, however, may be disappointed that some scientists at least are not heeding his call to stay at home and wait for better times under a Labor government.

Despite Hogg's explanation of the brain drain, the government's own advisory council on scientific policy has said the main causes are higher U.S. salaries, more opportunities, better research facilities and an improved social status.

LOCAL BRIEFS

City manager Dennis Young Monday said negotiations with civic unions to hammer out new working agreements "are going quite well" but added there was still no indication of when settlements could be expected.

A meeting for prayer and healing study will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Esquimalt Golden Age Club will meet Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Jubilee Hall, Fraser Street, for a Valentine's tea and door prize draw.

Executive secretary of the Polioyellitis and Rehabilitation Foundation, Allan Sutton reported Monday a total of $41,300 collected by the Mothers' March last week. The total is $400 less than last year and $700 short of this year's goal.

Plans for a Shakespeare Festival in Victoria this summer will be outlined at a meeting of Victoria Shakespeare Society in the Glenshiel Hotel Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker at this meeting will be Carl Hare, drama director of the University of Victoria.

Preliminary plans will be discussed for the 400th anniversary Shakespeare dinner to be held on April 23, which is Shakespeare's birthday and St. George's Day.

A 19-year-old youth caught drinking from a bottle of beer at Clover Point Jan. 22, was fined $20 in court Monday. David Jensen, HMCS Cape Breton, pleaded guilty to being a minor in unlawful possession of liquor.

Victoria branch, Canadian Authors' Association, will hold a public meeting in the Douglas Building cafeteria Thursday at 8 p.m.

Walter Margetts, B.C. Hydro trade consultant, will show films of the Columbia River and Scandinavia.

St. Alben's 50-UP group will meet in the parish hall, Thursday at 2 p.m.

Two men each were fined $300 and lost their licences Monday for impaired driving at the weekend.

Douglas Pearsall, 1255 Hastings, was arrested after he drove into the rear of a car stopped for a light at Hillside and Blackwood Saturday night. He pushed the car into another one that was stopped ahead of it.

John W. Wicks, 3927 Cedar Hill, ran into a parked car on Richmond Road near Adanac shortly before 10 the same night.

Two graduating forestry students from Victoria will be among 43 UBC foresters receiving their club rings in a ceremony Thursday.

They are B. M. Hall, 1857 Crescent, and B. D. Webber, 1236 Oxford, who will attend a Forestry Club graduating dinner in Canyon Gardens, North Vancouver. UBC president emeritus Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie will be speaker.

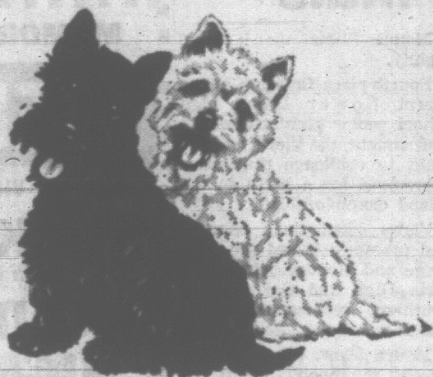

Club members qualify for rings on graduation.

Other Islanders taking part will be F. Burkovac and K. J. Harmer of Alberni.

Doctor to Lead Rescue Mission

Dr. Hugh Borsman Monday was elected pro tem chairman of a steering committee aimed at founding a Greater Victoria Historical Buildings Trust.

Purpose of the trust would be to receive donations, bequests and dues to be used in promoting preservation of historic buildings in this region.

Decision to form such a trust was taken by more than 30 prominent Victorians, including representatives of a variety of organizations, provincial and civic governments and business, who attended a luncheon given by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

TIME TO DECIDE

Dr. Borsman, a long-time advocate of preserving Victoria's distinctive links with the past, said the time has come to act or to write-off the city's heritage.

He said a trust organization could influence many owners of historic buildings to preserve them and in some cases could acquire the buildings and operate them.

Provincial archivist Willard Ireland, who provided long lists of buildings here that date back as far as 1851, supported formation of such a society.

LIMITED TIME

"There should be purposeful preservation—not every building that has historic connections can be made into a museum—but we have a very limited time in which to act."

Capital Region Planning Board director A. H. Roberts said several individual buildings could, and do, qualify for preservation grants from the federal and provincial governments but many more will have to be protected, if at all, by a volunteer organization.

City architect Rod Clark said the whole "lower town" area bounded by the harbor, Fisgard, Government and Wharf Streets, is worth preserving as a historic area from which sprang not only the capital city but also the province.

Dr. Borsman said eventual shape of the trust might take the form of a 25-member board of directors and a membership list with dues ranging from $2 for individuals to $100 for firms or groups.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

If the Olympic Games are a symbol of sportsmanship and peace on earth to men of goodwill, some serious thought should be given to abandoning them before we have one dandy of a war.

Take the Ninth Winter Olympiad at Innsbruck, just deceased.

The German figure-skating team blamed a Canadian woman judge for "favoring" a Russian pair.

One German national was so disturbed he asked for a gun "to shoot her with." The Austrian cops thought he had shot off his yap enough to be a member of the press corps. They threw him in jail.

Three Americans played wrong-way around an Innsbruck Round-a-Bout (imported from Victoria, no doubt) and lost to the gendarmes. Box score: one black eye, one bloody nose, assorted welts, two suspended sentences.

The International Ice Hockey Federation decided 10 minutes before the final game on the last day to change the ground rules.

In the event of a triple tie, said the IIHF, the top four placings would be calculated on the goal difference involving all seven teams in the championship round.

The Old Mark Was Set at Yalta

Only last Thursday the Canadian Olympic hockey team had been reassured that the top four placings would be determined on the goal difference involving only the four countries.

Father David Bauer, the Canadian coach, had that understanding "months before the Olympics opened." Arthur Potter, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and a reliable sort, checked in with the same conviction.

Even the Russian and Czechoslovakian delegates had agreed with him, Mr. Potter said. (This set a new Olympic record for agreements between Russia and The Rest. The last one was set at Yalta, where Russia agreed to take home as much of the world as she could carry.)

After that 3-2 loss to Sweden and Czechoslovakia for second.

Under the original placing agreement, Sweden would be second, Canada third, and the Czechs fourth. But under the amended IIHF legislation, Canada and the Czechs changed places.

At Innsbruck as at Sandown or Santa Anita they don't pay off on fourth place.

The Czechs caught the bronze medals. The Canadians caught a cold . . . from an European snow job.

Significantly, the IIHF did not tell the Canadians about the change. Father Bauer and his boys made the discovery when they appeared at the medal ceremony in the Ice Stadium late Saturday . . .

No Cinch for Lizzie Or Lassie . . .

All harmony aside, Canada did not leave any heavy fragrances at Innsbruck.

On the ice, Canada's problem of locating an amateur, training him, and keeping him intact for future Olympics parallels that of the United States.

Kenneth "Tug" Wilson, president of the U.S. committee, said it for both countries:

"People may expect too much from us . . . One of the biggest handicaps we have is that after one of our athletes has had a shot at the Olympics he usually has to give it up and start earning a living."

Warmed up, Wilson added: "Take our hockey team. We have trouble getting enough good players together for one Olympic, while the Russians, Czechs and Swedes have all had their teams together for several years."

The Czech team—17 men—was chosen from 90,000 registered players.

If Father Bauer had the help of the RCMP, Lassie and Elizabeth Taylor, he couldn't turn up 900 male Canadians sound of mind and limb for Innsbruck.

The Canadian quest was put into perspective by Frank Shaughnessy, chef de mission, Canadian Olympic team.

Quote: "We were spotting the Russians, Czechs and Swedes—who are all out-and-out professionals as far as I'm concerned—several years in age and experience and still did better than a lot of people in Canada thought we would."

Adjectives Tailored for Gentlemen

Socially, the Canadians never spat on the floor, pinched pretty Bavarian waitresses or wielded their sticks like machetes in deepest Guatemala.

The head of the referees' union, a Swiss called Kaur Hauser, said it all about Father Bauer and his Canadians:

"When they lost to the Czechs, a bitter defeat after their goal (Seth Martin) was injured, they did not throw their sticks angrily in the air or show any temper. They congratulated the Czechs and skated off like gentlemen."

Mr. Hauser cleared his throat. "I want to say this," he said. "In 30 years I have never seen a better behaved team."

"They should give the Canadians a gold medal . . . for conduct and sportsmanship."

Father Bauer won a line of type from the IIHF for preventing widespread violence after he was struck and cut by a stick thrown by a Swedish player.

A. H. "Bunny" Ahearne, IIHF president, called Father Bauer "a great gentleman" and said:

"For me, he set the highest standard of behavior. He was generous in his thoughts, magnanimous in his actions."

"The standard he set will rarely be exceeded . . ."

Sentence Suspended For Swinging Scribe

INNSBRUCK, Austria (Reuters)—Michael Sone, Vancouver sports writer alleged to have caused a disturbance in the ice stadium at the Winter Olympics here, was given a suspended four-month prison sentence today.

Sone, 24, was charged with causing public violence by resisting arrest and with insulting and hitting Austrian police.

The indictment said Sone resisted "polite requests" to leave a box for honorary guests because he did not have proper credentials. Despite repeated requests he allegedly hit and kicked two Austrian policemen who tried to remove him.

Sone received his passport back after the trial, which lasted only about half an hour. Sone accompanied the Canadian Olympic hockey team to Innsbruck after travelling with it on a European tour.

He said earlier that the incident started while he was writing a story after a Feb. 1 hockey game. He said an usher asked him to leave the area and he promised to do so in five minutes, after finishing the story, but the usher called police.

Ice-dancing, not included in the Olympic Games, is just what the name suggests. It's dancing on ice to music. There are no lifts and spins in the manner of free figure skating and the partners are always in contact.

Competitions consist of compulsory dances—set patterns to set timing—and free dances, in which skaters use their own routines and music.

How much longer can they continue to spend the time and money ($4,000 to $5,000 per year) on their quest for a world crown?

Lorna Dyer and John Carrell

... Side Trips Are Important

WEEKEND TUTORING

Side Trips Necessary For Climb to the Top

By DOUG PEDEN

For any skater, the road to the world championships is long and demanding. There is no room in its traffic for the lazy or undisciplined.

For Lorna Dyer and John Carrell, the route appears even longer than usual. It is full of side trips.

Unless competitions call them elsewhere, every Friday afternoon the Seattle teen-agers collect textbooks and skates and head for Victoria and the instruction they hope will eventually bring them a world ice-dancing crown. Monday morning they are back at classes in the Sound City.

Lorna, vivacious, curvaceous and 18, is the veteran of the shuttle service. The University of Washington freshman is in her fourth year on the Trans-Canada Airlines' Seattle-Victoria run. In addition, she spends two months of each summer in the city, toiling long hours to hone her sharpness on the blades.

Jean Is Tops

Carrell, a slender, serious 17-year-old 11th-grader, is a comparative novice at the plane-hopping business. He's been on the same schedule for only 15 months.

Why are they so intent on getting their instruction in Victoria instead of Seattle?

The reason is Jean Westwood, Victoria figure skating club professional who has few peers when it comes to knowledge of the ice-dancing pastime. Five times Miss Westwood was crowned world champion while skating out of Manchester, England, with Lawrence Demmy.

Carrell and Miss Dyer were back in town for more tutoring over the weekend, getting in final tune-ups before joining the U.S. Olympic figure skating team for the world championships which open in Dortmund, Germany, Feb. 21.

Current Pacific Coast champions, the Seattleites were disappointed last month when they were below their best form and finished third for the second consecutive year in the U.S. nationals. Eighth in the 1963 world meet at Cortina, Italy, they think they have the kinks ironed out and "hope to finish well up at Dortmund."

They Work Hard

If they don't make it, near the top, it won't be for lack of labor. Lorna and John get in about two hours on skates each day at home and stretch the ice time to several hours, sometimes in the wee hours of the morning on visits to Victoria.

Yet both wish they had more time to work on the rhythm and precision demanded by their sport.

Ice-dancing, not included in the Olympic Games, is just what the name suggests. It's dancing on ice to music. There are no lifts and spins in the manner of free figure skating and the partners are always in contact.

Competitions consist of compulsory dances—set patterns to set timing—and free dances, in which skaters use their own routines and music.

How much longer can they continue to spend the time and money ($4,000 to $5,000 per year) on their quest for a world crown?

Seek World Title

"I don't know," said Lorna, "but we still love it. I guess when you feel you are not improving and are not winning, it will be time to quit."

"It may depend on how we do in the world's but we think we'll skate together for at least two more years. The world title is our goal."

"Skating makes it difficult to keep up with your education," commented Carrell. "All we seem to do is skate, study, sleep and eat. Lorna went to only one dance last year, her senior prom—and I saw one football game."

"That doesn't sound like the routine that would appeal to most teen-agers, but John and Lorna both insist "It's worth it."

Which means that regardless of how they finish at Dortmund they'll be back on the Seattle-Victoria shuttle service.

FEW HURRY HOME

Our Olympians Take In Europe

INNSBRUCK, Austria (CP)—Many of the Canadians who participated in the ninth Winter Olympic Games which ended here Sunday are bound for other parts of the world before returning home.

All except three of the Canadian Olympic figure skaters will go from here to Dortmund, Germany, for the world championships Feb. 21 to 25. Bill Neale, Port Erie, Ont., who placed 16th in the Olympic men's figure skating, and Jim Watters and Faye Strutt, Vancouver, 14th in pairs, have left here for home.

The other Canadian figure skaters, including the pair of Guy Revell, Newmarket, Ont., and Debbie Wilkes, Unionville, Ont., and Petra Burka, Toronto, who won bronze medals in pairs and women's competitions, respectively, will be joined in Dortmund by three Canadian dance teams.

GOING TO SWEDEN

Paulette Doan and Ken Ormsby, Toronto; Carole Forrest and Kevin Leithbridge, Toronto; and Marilyn Crawford and Blair Armitage, Ottawa, the top three dance teams in the Canadian championships, will compete in the world

U.S. Topples Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica—The United States routed Jamaica 9-0 in a northern zone meeting in Thomas Cup world badminton competition. The matches concluded Saturday night.

Saturday night, the top U.S. player, Manuel Armendariz, crushed Jamaica's Keith Palmer 15-3, 15-0. Don Paup beat Ernest Hew 15-12, 15-4. Dick Gorman topped Richard Roberts 15-12, 15-3, and Paul and Jim Lynch beat Brendan Clear and Ernest Hew 15-9, 15-6, and Joe Alston

Dagg Earns Right To Represent B.C.

Youthful Skip Leads Rink To Victory Over Bisgrove

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Lyall Dagg, 34-year-old Vancouver public relations executive, will skip B.C.'s entry in the Canadian curling championships at Charlottetown next month.

The hand-tailored Vancouver rink captured the provincial title Monday with a two-straight sweep over Kimberley's Eric Bisgrove.

Dagg defeated Bisgrove 8-7 and 7-5 in their best-of-three playoff at the Victoria Curling Club.

Curling with Dagg are third Leo Hebert, second Fred Britton and lead Barry Naimark. Dagg's mates all are 31.

STRANGE STRATEGY

Off a bridesmaid but never a bride in the run for provincial honors, Dagg today can thank Bisgrove for making it easy.

There is no doubt that some questionable strategy by the Kimberley skip led to Bisgrove's downfall in the crucial second game.

It came on the eighth end. Ahead 4-2 and matching Dagg rock for rock, Bisgrove elected to blank the eighth end when he went down to throw his last rock.

STOLEN POINT

Dagg, at the time, had one shot stone lying in the 12-foot circle.

Bisgrove, 31, was wide with his attempted takeout-and-roll shot. It missed Dagg's stone completely and made the score 4-3.

Veteran curlers were generally in agreement that Bisgrove should have played to count one at that stage of the game.

The Dagg rink "stole" another point on the ninth to tie 4-4, then broke it wide open with a three-ender on the 10th. That was it.

8th DECIDED IT

Although Dagg's three count on the 10th was the "crusher," both skips agreed that the turning point was the eighth.

"Most emphatically," Dagg said later, "the eighth was the turning point."

Bisgrove must also be charged with questionable strategy on the disastrous 10th end. He started out to keep the house clear since he had last-rock advantage. He altered his strategy, for no apparent reason, when second Bob Nesbitt went to shoot.

The Dagg rink was in complete command in the first game, more so than had been the case in the Pacific Coast final with clubmate Roy Vintners.

HEBERT STRONG

Standout in both victories was Hebert. The little ex-Edmontonian made 44 out of a possible 45 points in the first game and was 39-48 in the second.

Dagg scored 38 and 39 points,

Playoff Time For City Clubs

Hansen One Step Away From Title

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Barring an upset today, Ina Hansen and her Kimberley rink will pack bags for a third consecutive trip to the Dominion women's curling championship.

Mrs. Hansen emerged from the first three rounds of the provincial championship Monday night with a 3-0 record.

One more victory, in a game today against Frances Wowchuk of Osoyoos, would give her a sweep of the five-team round-robin competition.

Mrs. Wowchuk was 1-1. Joy 5.

Mitchell of Kitimat was 2-1, Jean Utas of Dawson City 0-2, and Audrey Isaacs of North Vancouver 0-2.

Mrs. Hansen's wins included a 13-6 victory over Mrs. Utas, 8-6 victory over Mrs. Mitchell and 9-5 victory over Mrs. Isaacs.

The fast-curling Kootenay foursome won the Canadian title two years ago but lost in 1963.

Other scores during the day: Mitchell 8 Isaacs 5; Wowchuk 8; Utas 5; Mitchell 8 Wowchuk 5.

Dois, large and small, young and old, will be admitted free at Memorial Arena Wednesday, "ladies' night" at the Victoria Hockey League double-header.

Dupas Thinks It Over After Severe Beating

One of hockey's most spectacular plays is the breakaway. However, there are a few occasions on which a back-checker can nullify the breakaway, spoil his shot. If there's any chance at all of catching up with him to the point you can make him go on his backhand to shoot, then you're going to cut down his chances of beating the goalie nearly 50 per cent.

His forehead shot naturally is his stronger shot. But if you're close enough to force him over on his backhand, he may get in so close to the goaltender that he doesn't have the opportunity for a good shot.

The goaltender realizes the only move the puck carrier can possibly make is to try to pull him. The goalie can stop worrying about protecting the angles and play him for his backhand shot.

In one of the All-Star games, when Glenn Hall was in the net for the All-Stars, I came in on a back check. The puck carrier was a lefthander. So I ran the fellow over on his backhand the best I could. When he crossed over, I laid my stick on his glove the best I could.

When Glenn saw me do that, he dropped to the ice, sprawled across the goalmouth and he smothered the puck in his pads.

When I fell into Glenn, I said, "Gee, sorry Glenn, that's all I could do."

"I knew you had him," he replied. "That's why I lay down. He couldn't do a thing with the puck."

Goaltenders have a great knowledge of all the players in the league. They study their opposition, just as every other player should.

So if you manoeuvre a player in a certain position in your backchecking, it helps him, because he's got a certain move he should make, too, simplifies his problems.

KEY OUTING FOR COUGARS

Victoria Cougars are clutched in one of those "win-or-lose" situations tonight.

Down 1-0 to New Westminster Royals in their best-of-three Pacific Coast Junior A Hockey playoffs, Cougars host Royals in Memorial Arena at 8 p.m.

Winner of this series will meet the Caribou champions in the B.C. semifinals.

Australians 41 Runs On In Final Test

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—With Brian Booth again doing a fine batting job, Australia today looked to be well on the way to saving the final cricket test against South Africa here.

With one day's play to go, Australia was 41 runs on with seven second-innings wickets standing. Trailing by 100 on first innings, it was 141 for three at today's close.

Booth, who scored 102 not out in the first innings, got an unbeaten 57 today. He and Peter Burge (39) put on 83 for the third wicket after openers Bill Lawry and Bobby Simpson had both gone with 49 on the board.

South Africa's last five first-innings wickets added 114 today and it totalled 411 in reply to Australia's 311. But the pace was often slow, and time was vital for South Africa if it was to gain a good chance of the victory it needed to break the tie in the series.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—

The string may be running out for Ralph Dupas, the New Orleans swifly who has spent almost half of his 28 years in the fight game.

Dupas, a crafty stylist who had been stopped only twice in his first 124 bouts since turning pro 13 years ago, was a knock-out victim for the third time in six months Monday.

Welterweight champion Emile Griffith floored Dupas three times in the second round of a scheduled 12-round non-title meeting here, then took the veteran out at two minutes of the third heat.

Dupas said he'll lay off boxing for four or five months, then make up his mind about the future.

"I've had too many fights with the big boys such as the middleweights and it's taken its toll," he said.

"Today I either need rest or I can't fight any more."

HITS HEAD

Dupas' head struck the canvas on the fourth and final knockdown and an anxious Griffith spent the next five minutes at the fallen fighter's side.

An ambulance crew rushed into the ring and, with Dupas' handlers, mopped blood from the unconscious fighter's face and applied ice packs to the back of his neck.

Dupas finally came around and the two fighters left the ring.

Griffith said later he wasn't thinking of Benny Paret's death under similar circumstances, while Dupas was out. But there was no doubt that the Virgin Islands-born champion was concerned deeply.

Paret, one-time welterweight champ, died after being battered and then knocked out by Griffith in an April, 1962, title fight.

Cowichan Lifts Island's Stock In Rugby Circles

Cowichan's and the Victoria Rugby Union's stock soared to a new height as a result of the Duncan squad's 31-3 exhibition victory over Vancouver Rowing Club at the weekend.

The oarsmen have been beaten only twice in Vancouver Union ranks this season.

Sparkling Cowichan's attack was stand-off Alan Rees, one of three Cowichan players selected to B.C.'s all-star team. Rees accounted for 16 of the 31 points by scoring two tries and booting five converts.

Try By Druce Wins for Vics

A try by Eric Druce gave Victoria High a 3-0 victory over Oak Bay at Carnarvon Park Monday.

The only other Junior Inter-High Rugby League game—between Mount View and University School—was cancelled. US is on mid-term holidays.

Combination Soccer

Royal Roads defeated second-place Firefighters 3-1 to stretch their Combination Soccer League lead to five points at the weekend. Malahat defeated Falcons 5-2 while Island Tug defeated last-place Navy 3-1 in other matches.

HABS' BEST DEFENDER

Jacques a Jewel

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Toe Blake of the Montreal Canadiens was concerned about rookie defenceman Jacques Laperriere at the start of the current season.

But these days, in the midst of Montreal's battle with Chicago for the National Hockey League title, Blake is giving the 22-year-old rearguard increasingly more ice time as the team's most dependable defenceman.

"From the way Laperriere played at the end of last season and in the playoffs, we knew he could be a National Leaguer," Blake says. "But, frankly, I was very disappointed when he came to training camp so much out of condition (15 pounds overweight), and the way he started the season."

Laperriere, a 185-pounder who employs a crushing body check and hard, but wild, shot, did not accompany Montreal on its first exhibition tour.

"The coach knew I wasn't in top shape," he says. "He played himself into shape and right into the lead at the halfway mark of the season for the Calder rookie award. And now Blake puts as much trust in Laperriere as he does in any of his veterans."

"Jacques has shown improvement all around," Blake says, "especially the way he is starting to carry the puck."

The Canadiens haven't had a good rushing defenceman since Doug Harvey, but now the front office is putting hope in Laperriere, although he still has one major fault—his shots miss the net more often than not.

"I think that's because I want to hit the puck too hard," he says. "But I'm working at it all the time and it's getting a little better."

So far he has one goal and 23 assists. Back at the blueline, however, he's taking charge and using his slim but muscular body more often.

"A defenceman has to hit a little or the opposition knows they can go around him every time," he says. "If you hit a forward the first time, he slows down and looks up the second time."

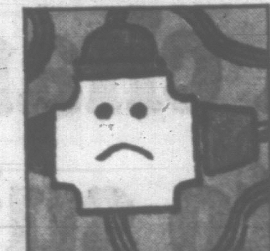

Are some forwards easier to stop than others? "Sure, but you can't think that way. Just when you decide that you have a fellow's number, he will make you look bad. In this league you have to work all the time."

Premier Silent As Questions Asked on Bank

The Opposition leaders demanded answers about the new bank in the legislature Monday.

Both Robert Strachan of the New Democratic Party and Ray Perrault of the Liberals wanted to know if Premier Bennett really had polled existing chartered banks about setting up a head office in Vancouver before promoting his own bank.

And both had ideas about how the new bank should be run.

But Mr. Strachan advocated 100 per cent government control, while Mr. Perrault wanted none.

Neither Mr. Bennett nor other government members gave any answers.

Bank officials last weekend denied they had been approached by the premier.

"The people concerned have said 'Rubbish'," Mr. Strachan said.

MUST ANSWER

"The premier has to answer."

But, Mr. Strachan said, the NDP is pleased the government is going into the banking business.

However, instead of buying 25 per cent of its shares, as proposed, he said the government should hold 50 per cent at least, and he would prefer 100 per cent.

In addition, the bank should provide lower interest rates than existing banks and should adopt a more reasonable attitude toward encouraging new industries than they do.

"If it doesn't meet these conditions then we'll have to wait until there is an NDP government," he said.

Mr. Perrault said the most the government should do is hold an interest for two or three years, just to get the bank started.

He said the Liberal party didn't want to see the government go into the venture with expressions of "child-like faith" alone.

He suggested the government wanted to control the bank and dictate its policies.

NO HELP TO B.C.

"You'll have all the money loaned out across North America—it'll be gone in about 10 minutes and won't be helping B.C. at all."

He rapped Education Minister Leslie Peterson for suggesting the bank should be built on a certain site in downtown Vancouver.

"First of all the government and no spokesman of the government should be announcing where the bank is to be built," Mr. Perrault said.

"If this is going to be a free and independent institution then a majority of the shareholders must elect the directors who in turn must decide where the bank should go."

"It is both wrong and unseemly for the premier to suggest the bank already is in his pocket."

"It does nothing to allay the misgivings of those who see terrible dangers in this new sortie into provincial control and ownership," Mr. Perrault added.

He said it was another example of more and more of B.C. "slipping into the control of one man."

PERRAULT:

Municipal Department 'Moribund'

The provincial municipal affairs department should be scrapped, Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Monday.

He said that under Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black the department has become "moribund."

Mr. Perrault told the legislature there should be a new department of urban and rural development with a full-time minister.

The legislature should pass a New Towns Act to create new communities tied to industrial and resource expansion in B.C.'s wilderness, the Liberal leader said.

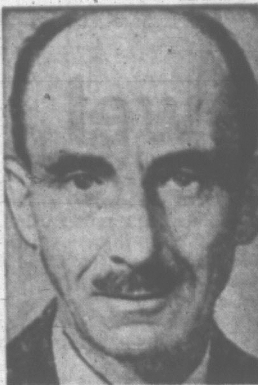

He also wants a three-man urban redevelopment commission that would be responsible for administering unorganized areas of the province.

This commission, he said, should have jurisdiction over subdivisions.

"Then we should proceed into an in-depth inquiry into the problem of local government and the provision of local services for those parts of the unorganized areas that are fringe settlements contiguous to established cities and towns," he added.

Next step would be a rural home improvement loan fund, Mr. Perrault said.

Ribbon development along highways should be prohibited and land bordering the roads leased for private development to help pay the construction costs of the highways.

Dust Bowls Growing In Soviet Farm Land

MOSCOW (AP) — The dust bowls that plagued North America in the 1930s have come to the Soviet Union, already beset by grain and meat shortages.

Agriculture Minister Ivan Volovchenko told the Communist party central committee

Monday that about 3,000,000 acres of arable land are abandoned each year in the Soviet Union.

"Wind and water erosion are inflicting tremendous damage on agriculture," he told a committee meeting in the Kremlin. "We must take all measures for the restoration and preservation of the fertility of eroded soil."

"In our opinion, it is necessary to adopt a special law which would provide for the strict accountability of all departments, organizations, collective and state farms for preserving soil riches and for the sensible use of agricultural land."

BECOME SWAMPS

Not all the 3,000,000 acres abandoned annually are dust bowls.

"Huge areas are subjected to erosion, become overgrown with brush, are turned into swamps and are taken out of agricultural use," Volovchenko said.

While he did not say so, wind damage is high in the arid virgin lands of Kazakhstan and Siberia that Premier Khrushchev ordered plowed up to boost grain production.

There is not enough rainfall in these areas to provide a crop cover against the scouring winds. This was the case in the North American dust bowls three decades ago.

More than 10,000,000 acres of the Soviet virgin lands were reported menaced by wind erosion last September. In Siberia, up to 70 per cent of the cultivated steppes were said to have been ruined by dust storms.

Volovchenko proposed a survey to determine the quality of all arable land in the Soviet Union.

Are Motor Cars Real Villains?

The effect of the motor car on crime statistics, should even take a ride in a stolen car is an offence."

Mr. Edmison had high praise for a new school text titled Youth and the Law, now being used in Grade 8 classes in parts of Ontario.

A member of the national parole board, Mr. Edmison is on a nation-wide tour of penal institutions.

He said many of today's criminals first got into trouble as a juvenile by stealing a car.

"They don't form a car ring. It's just done for a thrill. A teen-ager will think 'I can't get a girl until I get a car' and it becomes a hypnosis situation," he said.

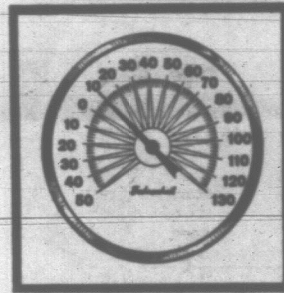

"In a lot of cases a youngster does not know that to

Mr. Edmison said the story in juvenile delinquency cases always goes back to the home.

"Most of these young people are magnificently unprepared for life," he added.

"They quit school at an early age—sometimes below the lawful age—and go out for a job. They have no training and no church or no YMCA life."

Every month B-A changes its gasolines to suit the weather

That is why B-A Gasolines consistently give you easy starts and fast warm-ups

Every month, B-A adjusts the blending of its gasolines to compensate for regional and seasonal temperature changes. Right now your local B-A dealer is pumping a special winter blend that can help you get the most out of winter driving. This blend contains more fast-firing butane to give you instant cold weather starts and fast warm-ups. This gives you better mileage because you use less gasoline during these two operations.

Also, B-A Gasolines contain a special additive that stops cold weather stalling by preventing ice from forming in your carburetor. Try a tankful of B-A Winter Gasoline soon. You'll like the difference.

Beatle Bashes Hike Sale of Wacky Wigs

Beatle wigs are selling like hairy hotcakes, but you still can't get into school unless you're not wearing the real thing. David Mawle, one of two Oak Bay High School students who took up the hirsute hair-do in the flopped-mop style, has agreed to comb it otherwise and go back to school.

His co-Beatle Philip Linfield is circulating a petition outside among adults for their support for his stand that a neat Beatle-style should be acceptable.

And the two Victoria stores that sell imitation Beatle hairdos—wigs, that is—are selling as fast as they can rake the money in over the counter.

Favorite color—a sort of dandruff black.

"I've repeated the orders several times," the manager of a downtown store told the Times this morning.

"People seem to have the money for them."

"We've had plenty of fun out of this craze, but I don't think it will last."

The wigs at his store sell for $5.95.

A shopping centre store that sells them for $1.98 reports the wigs are "going like mad."

Most of the wigs are being sold to adults, presumably for Beatle parties, says the manager of the store's men's department.

Topics of the Day

A 16-year-old youth was knocked through a door when a car rolled forward on a downtown service station this morning. Martin Dougall, 4290 Glenford, was released after treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital for bruises.

The car started to roll after being left on Olson Motors lot with the gear shift in neutral, city police said. It knocked Dougall through a door into the body shop.

When the car was driven out of the way there was a large hole in the door through which the youth had gone.

A man who won a dismissal of an impaired driving charge in city court Monday changed his plea on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $175.

Frederick Jensen, 1279 Simon, was arrested by police a few blocks away from the scene of an accident on Finlayson Street Dec. 31.

Jensen was represented by lawyer John Kozak who was arguing his first case in a Victoria court. Mr. Kozak won an acquittal for his client after arguing that Jensen was emotionally upset and excited rather than under the influence of liquor, although he did have a few drinks earlier before the accident.

Brentwood Old Age Pensioners meet Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Women's Institute Hall.

Next meeting of the Victoria Short Wave Club's code and theory classes will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., 1200 Thompson Avenue, the home of Victor Allen.

Meeting of Victoria Liberal Association will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., in the War Amputations Hall, 1610 Oak Bay Avenue, commencing at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker is Dr. Pat McGee, M.L.A. There will also be a discussion, "Should We Recognize Red China," with W. Dickie the chairman.

DAFF BASKETS ERECTED FOR EASTER.

Daffodil baskets will hang from cluster light standards during Easter week next month.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren is still examining varying types of containers and daffodil strains to implement the $2,000 experimental program approved last week by city council.

"But they'll be up just before Easter," he said this morning.

The blooms are expected to give color in some 460 baskets through the downtown area for 10 days to two weeks.

A 14-foot long sea lion was washed up dead on the beach at Esquimalt Lagoon Monday.

Sea lions abound north of Vancouver Island and there are some at Jordan River, but it is unusual for one to be found in this area.

The buck-toothed, be-whiskered animal was still lying on the beach this morning but was expected to be carried out to sea by the tides.

Robert Newton Hurley, a well-known Prairie artist, will address the Prospect Lake Community Association at a meeting starting at 8 o'clock tonight.

The new president of the association is Gordon Denford. He succeeds Brian Hoole.

Other officers are: Don Sanford, vice-president; Hugh Creighton, treasurer; Caroline Howes, entertainment; Bee Lamprecht, publicity; Brian Hoole, local improvements; Lorlette Horsey, recording secretary; Doris Steward, corresponding secretary; Albert McDonald, sports.

Oak Bay will start paving reconstructed Cadboro Bay Road at the end of February, municipal engineer Geoffrey White told the public works committee Monday night.

The job will be finished late in the job, he said.

Two local members and a newcomer are among the speakers in the legislature Wednesday.

The lineup, starting at 2 p.m.,

Works Minister W. N. Chant (SC—Victoria), Alan Macfarlane (L—Oak Bay), Ralph Loffmark (SC—Vancouver-Point Grey) and Frank Calder (NDP—Atlin).

The legislature will sit tonight at 8, and the speakers will be Waldo Skillings (SC—Victoria) and Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca).

Rites Thursday For Former Deputy's Widow

Funeral service for Mrs. S. J. Willis will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Hayward's Chapel with Rev. F. E. James officiating.

Interment will follow at Royal Oak Cemetery.

Mrs. Willis, widow of Samuel John Willis, former deputy minister of education, died Monday in her 88th year.

Born in Nova Scotia she came to Victoria in 1891 and for many years was an active member in local women's organizations and Metropolitan United Church.

She was a past president of Chapter E of the PEO Sisterhood of Victoria and served as president of the Women's Canadian Club between 1935-1937.

She is survived by a son, Philip of Montreal and a grandson, Hector Allan of Nevada.

Shipyard Strike At Standstill

There is no indication today of any further negotiations in the 2,000-man strike at B.C.'s "big three" shipyards.

Metal Trades Council president James McConachy said here today: "We're just lying doggo."

Unions and management Monday rejected an offer by deputy labor minister William Sands for ending the strike.

In Vancouver, B.C. shipbuilding Federation chairman J. W. Hudson, said the companies—Yarrows, VMD and Burrard Dry Dock—intend to stick to the conciliation board recommendation of last December.

Work worth $20 million is tied up in the yards. It includes two $3 million B.C. Government ferries at VMD.

Legislature Speakers

Two local members and a newcomer are among the speakers in the legislature Wednesday.

The lineup, starting at 2 p.m.,

INJUNCTION HALTS PICKETING

An injunction restraining the B.C. Meatcutters' Union from "picketing or trespassing" in order to dissuade people from buying at the Oakcrest Food Market was granted in Victoria Courthouse on Monday afternoon.

The injunction was granted in Supreme Court chambers by Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz following an application by John F. Wood on behalf of the Oakcrest Food Market.

Mr. Wood said the picketing outside the market was "totally unlawful" because of a collective agreement on wages and hours now in effect between the employers and the union.

Mr. Wood claimed that the pickets had trespassed on the market's parking lot and had successfully discouraged customers from buying meat at the store.

This, he argued, was contrary to Section 3 of the Trades Union Act which said that no person shall attempt to dissuade anyone from "entering a place of business."

Mr. Wood said the picketing began at 4:30 p.m. last Friday when union representatives paraded signs outside the Oakcrest store, which read:

"Jobs of meat department employees at Oakcrest Market have been eliminated by employees of Red Steer Packers working for sub-union wages."

NOT FIRED

Mr. Wood said the employees were not "fired." They were laid off and the notices they received said they would be given "as much work as possible."

He added that the kind of picketing approved by the union was unjustified, since no strike or lockout had been called as a result of the dispute.

$77 Cash Stolen

Thieves got away with a total of $77 cash in two separate break-ins investigated by police Monday.

At Cedar Hill Golf Course a prowler stole $15 from a wallet and $22 from a cash register. And at the MV Norango, docked at the Evans, Coleman and Evans jetty, another wallet containing $40 was stolen.

Driver Injured As Car Veers Out of Control

A motorist who lost control of his car at West Saanich Road and Wallace Drive was rushed in a semi-conscious condition to St. Joseph's Hospital Monday night.

Jose Antonio Matias, 6917 Veyness Road, is in fairly good condition today. His car knocked over a stop sign before veering across the road and crashing into a bank. He suffered head injuries.

Keith Todd, 27, of 131 Bushby, who was injured in an accident at Oak Bay municipal yard Monday afternoon is in fairly good condition today with a broken arm. He was crushed against a gravel truck when a boom broke and pinned him against the vehicle.

A rear-end collision on Tillicum sent Charles Luxton, 1257 Haultain, to St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken knee. He is reported in good condition.

'LITTLE COLLEGE OF IBIZA'

Two private school teachers, tired of the rain and crowded classrooms of British Columbia, will open a one-year college this fall on a sunny island in the Mediterranean.

The island is Ibiza, most southerly of the Balearic Islands.

The teachers, Robert Price of Victoria and David Kingsmill-Abbott of Dublin, Ireland, will open "The Little College of Ibiza" in the village of Santa Eulalia del Rio in September. At present they are on the faculty of St. George's School in Vancouver.

MAXIMUM OF 50

Plans are to enrol 40 Canadian students this fall with a maximum enrolment of 50 in future years.

The college was conceived as an idealistic school where the best in climate and teaching conditions could be combined in an old world setting.

First year university courses in the liberal arts will be given with emphasis on the Spanish language, literature, art, music and history. At the end of the six-month course students will write examinations recognized by all universities in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Price, a graduate of Oak Bay High School and the University of British Columbia, has lived in Spain and taught at the University of Madrid. This past summer he returned to Spain and made arrangements to rent a hotel on the island of Ibiza which will be the home of "The Little College."

DEAR ABBY . . .

Thought for the Day!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with you? First you advise a young married couple, who ask if it's proper to "tip" their minister for helpful counselling, to give a "donation" to the church instead. Then some preacher's wife writes in crying poor mouth and says, "No, know that no self-respecting clergyman would accept money for performing a service that is part of his job. And another thing, most churches today are so rich they don't know what to do with their money next."

BURNED UP IN ST. PAUL

DEAR BURNED: It's difficult to speak for "all" clergymen, and "most" churches. But according to my mail, "most" clergymen have a struggle making ends meet. And "most" churches know only too well what to do with their money.

DEAR ABBY: Since when should the people who belong to a church pay the preacher extra if they call on him to perform a service? If the preacher should be paid for counselling, or marrying, or burying, then by all means let's pay the teacher for holding special conferences with parents, and let's tip the dime store clerk who looks under the counter for something, and the mailman for delivering the mail.

FROM A TEACHER

MARRIED TO A PREACHER
DEAR ABBY: To say that the letter from "A Clergyman's Wife" infuriated my husband is putting it mildly. Granted, the clergyman and his family can use money. Who can't? But to expect payment for a service that is part of one's training in the service of God—this is asinine. My husband would rather live on beans and rice, and wear turned collars on his shirts than take money for himself for baptisms, marriages, funerals and counselling.

PASTOR'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: You were right the first time. When a member of a congregation receives professional services from his pastor, he should not feel compelled to give him a personal gift. If the pastor's salary is inadequate, this should be remedied, but a clergyman should not have to depend on "fees" or "gratuities" in order to make an adequate salary. Perform a double reverse.

A PASTOR IN POINT

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BIG JOHN" at MENLO: Doing no more than average is just what keeps the average down.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Buy One of These Cases To Protect Your Lenses

By PENNY SAVER

In recent months, Penny has found that most of her friends who formerly wore glasses are suddenly turning up with contact lenses.

And, because they are fairly expensive to replace most people keep them in little boxes or special cases when they aren't being worn.

Cases Penny has found are gold toned and price is $2.95. They have sponge-filled holes with gold lids for each lens marked with L and R, to keep you in the know on which one goes where.

When gifts are in order—be it birthday, anniversary, or other special occasion—novelties are often most appreciated.

One thing almost everyone can use is a letter opener. Shop Penny has found offers these in such shapes as swords and daggers. Price is $1.10 and they are made of Indian brass.

Others, made of Italian pewter come in three sizes and are designed with a charger on the handle. Prices are $1.25 and $1.50.

Girls, listen to this one! Another shop has plastic hair rollers. Baskets containing 30 rollers selling for $1.59. Baskets come in pale shades of pink, blue and yellow and all rollers are made of pink plastic.

Same shop has clothes brushes which are made in West Germany. Penny didn't take an exact measurement, but handles of some of these are at least a foot long. Price ranges upward from $2.75 and brushes come in such shapes as golf clubs and fish.

Some of these brushes come complete with wall plaque for hanging.

Next time you're out buying gifts, call Penny at 382-3131 for name of shops which sell these items.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

They say that pressure will either keep you young or kill you, depending somewhat on your temperament and approach to life. Financial pressure is, I think I can say with confidence, one of the main pressures most folks have.

Since I am one of those characters who has tried, for years, to plan and follow a budget and has failed, I am an authority of sorts in reverse. At least I have learned what some of the pitfalls are.

Not everyone is geared temperamentally to being a detailed budgeter. Of course the ones who are geared that way have the money. However, I believe that there are many people like myself who cannot bear to sit and think for a half-hour about where they spent a missing 10 cents, and discover that it went for a small bag of peanuts.

In other words, I think that a too detailed budget discourages one and causes many to give the whole idea up. My husband and I worked out a little scheme by which we called these small items "G.O.K." (God, only knows). So long as this part of the budget doesn't get out of proportion it is a wonderful idea.

Even more important is "S.I.L." (Such is life). This should be a large item on everyone's budget. It is the unexpected occurrences which throw the budget off balance. It is amazing how unexpected they can be! They can be tragic occurrences such as illnesses, but most often they are small crises, often ridiculous ones, which nick at your budget in never ending, little ways, which count up to a big total.

You cannot possibly foresee these. If you tried to imagine them and wrote them down they would take you away in a straitjacket to the nearest mental hospital. However, we should all put away a hunk of change for the unexpected.

However, too much strain is certainly damaging. We all run into enough of it and would be wise to cut down stress wherever we can. This takes planning.

If you need to budget your energy you may want my leaflet "The Married Woman" (household-organization). If so, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Exchange Vows

The marriage has been announced of Gillian, daughter of Mr. Kenneth Tatlow, Vancouver, and Mrs. Eric Makovski, to Mr. Francis (Frank) Alfred Delaney, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Delaney, of Vancouver. The ceremony took place on Saturday in the Church of St. Augustine with a reception following in the Vancouver home of Mr. and Mrs. John McLoughlin. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. Hamilton Stubbs, Ten Mile Point.

Co-Hostesses

Mrs. L. Wakelin and Mrs. J. Taylor were co-hostesses at a recent shower held in the Richmond Avenue home of the former in honor of Miss Shannon Rabey. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of white carnations and her mother, Mrs. S. Rabey, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H. Nesbitt, received floral cognate. Gifts were presented and refreshments served. Invited guests included Mrs. D. W. Brown, Mrs. J. Simpson, Mrs. R. Storrer, Mrs. R. Fuller, Mrs. D. Richmond, Mrs. E. Boothroyd, Mrs. J. Coey, Mrs. W. Phillips, Mrs. B. Gollob.

Rideau Hall Dinner Party

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor General Vanier entertained the prime minister of Britain, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and Lady Douglas-Home at a glittering formal dinner Monday night.

Mme. Vanier was not present. She is in Montreal convalescing from a recent eye operation.

The dinner at Government House was attended by 50 persons, including Prime Minister and Mrs. Pearson, External Affairs Minister and Mrs. Martin, Opposition Leader and Mrs. Diefenbaker and the Canadian high commissioner to Britain, Lionel Chevrier and Mme. Chevrier.

Commonwealth high commissioners attending the dinner included those from Ghana, Australia, Pakistan, New Zealand, Jamaica, India, Trinidad and Tobago, Ceylon and Britain.

Salt Spring Notes

W. D. Stephen of Ganges Hill, Salt Spring Island, is visiting his mother at her home in Dinbrook, Ont., on the occasion of her 95th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Robertson of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Thompson of Port Alberni were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Earl Hardie at their Southey Point home. The three women are former school friends. This was their first reunion in many years.

Mrs. S. H. Hawkins, St. Mary Lake, is presently visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Hawkins of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Crofton of Ganges have returned home after spending several days in Victoria as the guests of their son and daughter, Lieut. Mark Crofton and Miss Sharron Crofton.

Mrs. C. Holden, Mrs. N. Harrison, Mrs. J. FitzSimons, Mrs. T. Hogg, Mrs. A. McKenzie, Mrs. E. Polinsky, the Misses Clara Taylor, Pat Gardner and Phillis Creasy.

Spring Daisies

Gifts were in a miniature wheelbarrow, decorated with spring daisies, when Mrs. A. Hayward entertained at a shower in her Burdick Avenue home in honor of bride-elect Miss Jean Crisp. A shower cake and spring flowers centred the refreshment table. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, to her mother, Mrs. N. Crisp, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H. E. P. Higgins. Also invited were Mrs. D. Harwood, Mrs. B. White, Mrs. R. Bishop, Mrs. E. Haller, Mrs. R. Dumbleton, Mrs. W. Gornall, Mrs. J. Kirk, Mrs. W. Willis, Mrs. G. Bernard, Mrs. K. Harrison, Mrs. L. ### Women Present Brief to PM

OTTAWA (CP)—A delegation from the National Council of Women will present its annual brief Thursday to Prime Minister Pearson and members of the cabinet.

President Mrs. Saul Hayes of Montreal will lead the delegation. Other members will be Mrs. F. E. Underhill, London, Ont., Mrs. F. R. Duminy and Mrs. R. O. Cox, both of Ottawa, Mrs. W. A. Wood, Brandon, Man., Mrs. R. Watt, Don Mills, Ont., Mrs. O. W. Struthers and Mrs. Arthur F. Brown, both of Winnipeg.

The brief is presented on behalf of 2,000 Canadian societies which belong to the national council. It is expected to deal with a wide range of Canadian problems.

The meeting with the prime minister will follow a meeting of the council's executive committee being held here Wednesday and Thursday.

Coffee Party

Conveners of St. Matthias School Fun Fair met at a coffee party in the school library recently to discuss plans for the event which is to be held in May. Those present included co-conveners, Mrs. E. A. McGowan, Mrs. R. E. Neal; stall conveners, Mrs. R. J. Nation, Mrs. S. G. Pettit, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, Mrs. O. C. Lucas, Mrs. K. W. Symons, Mrs. M. J. W. Penn, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. M. F. "My husband does most of the garden work," Betty says. "It keeps me busy inside."

This means doing all her own "chores" as well as cooking "when I have time."

She confesses however, that in order to produce a good meal she needs "time." When she is in a hurry she insists "something always goes wrong."

Education Stressed at Chapter Meeting

Importance of furthering education in peace time was shown in reports as main project of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, at annual luncheon meeting held in the Colony Motel Cavalier Room, Monday.

Education secretary, Mrs. Norman Turner, reported that $386 had been spent in this field of work during the year. A bursary of $100 was presented to a graduate nurse at Royal Jubilee Hospital and another to a second year student at St. Joseph's Hospital. Both were given for proficiency in bedside nursing. Donations were also made to Municipal Chapter bursary funds, Centennial Fund and Dulcie Fowler Fund.

Books, Viewmaster reels, calendars and Christmas parcels were sent to the chapter's adopted schools on Turnour Island and Saturna Island. Expenditures amounting to $352.75 for services at home and abroad were reported by Mrs. G. C. Baker. Clothing, bedding, and knitted goods worth $168.25 were donated to the Korean Relief.

Local services included donation of $50 to Municipal Chapter for the purchase of an oxygen tent for Royal Jubilee Hospital; food parcels for the Retarded Children's School; a hamper for a needy family, and donation of furniture to the Goodwill and Salvation Army. In her treasurer's report, Mrs. W. Hudson said receipts totalled $1,249.89, disbursements $1,071.10, with a balance of $498.88. Proceeds from money making projects, which included a bridge tea, coffee party and bazaar, amounted to $787.43.

It was reported by secretary, Mrs. T. Lumsden, that the chapter now has a membership of 47 with six life members.

Regent, Mrs. H. Menzies, announced that all past regents have recently been made honorary regents of the chapter.

Special guests included Mrs. Peter W. Bell, Municipal Regent and second vice-president of Provincial Chapter; Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo, fourth vice-president of Provincial Chapter; Mrs. Elsie Lowthian, Municipal first vice-regent and councillor of Provincial Chapter; Miss Muriel E. Thompson, director of nursing, Royal Jubilee Hospital; Sister Mary Doris, director of nursing, St. Joseph's Hospital; Mrs. Margaret Love, nurses' residence superintendent, Royal Jubilee Hospital; Mrs. Gerald Sullivan and Mrs. R. Shanks.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Hall: Regent, Mrs. H. Menzies; first vice-regent, Mrs. J. A. Elliott; second, Mrs. E. B. Norton; secretary, Mrs. T. B. Lumsden; treasurer, Mrs. W. Hudson; Echoes secretary, Mrs. D. Dowzer; services at home and abroad, Mrs. G. C. Baker; education, Mrs. N. Turner; standard bearer, Mrs. K. Mills.

Ask Andy

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Jim Zulaw, age 13, of Houston, Texas, for his question:

What is static electricity in a person's hair?

As a rule, your hair stays where you comb it, for a while at least. But on frosty mornings it seems to have a life of its own. And it seems determined to rebel. It crackles and the longer strands stick to the comb. It tries to fly in all directions and refuses to obey. This frolicsome hair, of course, is charged with static electricity.

A person's hair becomes charged with static electricity when the weather is cold and dry. This charge is strong enough to be noticeable. But there is always some static electricity in the hair, even when there seems to be none. It is caused by electrons, those tiny atomic particles that perform all the tricks of electricity.

The atom carries two kinds of electricity, positive and negative. Each proton particle in the nucleus of the atom carries one charge of positive electricity. Each electron orbiting the nucleus carries a charge of negative electricity. Normally, the atom has an equal number of protons and electrons. This positive and negative balance makes the atom electrically neutral.

But in the hair and certain other substances, the electrons are not fixed too securely to their atoms. Swarms of them are more or less free near the surface. When the hair is combed, there is friction which creates heat and energy. The free electrons use this energy to get up speed and leave home. They join the plastic or hard rubber material from which the comb is made.

Flies After Comb

As electrons leave the hair, each carries with it a charge of negative electricity. Many atoms in the hair are left with more positive protons than electrons. The hair has a positive charge. The comb material has no free electrons on its surface. But when it is joined by runaway electrons from the hair, it gains a negative charge. It now has more electrons than protons.

A charged substance tries to get rid of its surplus electricity as soon as possible. And positive and negative charges attract each other. If the charge is positive, it tries to grab back its lost electrons. The hair flies after the comb. If the charge is negative, it tries to get rid of its surplus electrons. The comb clings to the fly-away strands of hair.

Substances, such as metals, are called good conductors of electricity. They have free electrons to give away. Electric current is carried through the wires by loose electrons in the copper. Silver and nickel also are good conductors of electricity. Rubber is a poor conductor or insulator. Its electrons are firmly fixed to their atoms. They cannot move along to carry an electrical current. Glass and amber, mica and diamonds also are electrical insulating substances.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Joe Hardy, age 9, of Washington, Ga., for his question.

What is a quiet sun?

Our glorious sun, it seems, has a spotty complexion. Its sunspots begin as small blemishes. Year by year there are more of them. They spread and become rashes. Then year by year the rashes fade away. This attack is a sunspot cycle. From start to finish, a sunspot cycle takes about 11 years. Then a new cycle begins.

Sunspots are fierce, magnetic storms on the face of the sun. Their fierce forces often reach out and touch our earth. They cause radio blackouts and upsets in the air above us.

Do Parakeets Get Strokes?

Yes, especially older birds. Rough handling of older birds should be avoided.

Clinic Q: "In a recent column you stated that the German shepherd is the most exhibited dog in championship competition. What are the top five most exhibited breeds?"

M.C.D., Sr., St. Paul, Minn.

A. After the German shepherd come poodle, dachshund, cocker spaniel and boxer, in that order.

Clinic Q: "We have a miniature cocker who seems to have no bladder control. He wets every time he gets excited or is scolded. How can I correct this habit?"

J.H.K., Fort Worth, Tex.

A. You can't. If you are lucky he'll outgrow it. This seeming lack of bladder control is characteristic of various small breeds.

Clinic Q: "Our three-month-old kitten covers her food up like a dog. Why does she do this? I've never seen a kitten bury food before."

Mrs. J.R., Moline, Ill.

A. I think your kitten is trying to tell you that she doesn't like her diet. Cats will cover their food when they don't like it. I suggest you change your kitten's diet and give her more variety.

Trading Stamp Charge Dismissed

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Finding that merchandise certificates issued by retail stores actually fit the meaning of "goods" as described in the Criminal Code, Magistrate Donald B. Menzies Friday dismissed a trading stamp charge against the Robert Simpson Company Limited.

Loblaws Groceries Company Limited, which has been issuing Simpson's merchandise certificates in return for its own lucky green stamps, had been charged jointly with the department store firm with disposing of trading stamps.

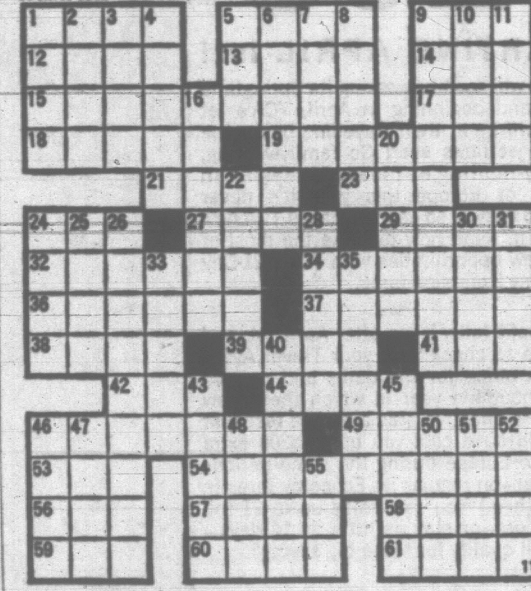

Although the magistrate found the merchandise certificates were legally "goods," he found the grocery firm guilty of redeeming its own green stamps at stores other than the store at which they were issued and fined the firm $100 without costs.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I've been asking about "the Johnson jokes" about the president and there don't seem to be any. Everybody too busy? (Joe E. Lewis says, "I knew Lyndon when he had the candy store—him and his younger brother, Howard") . . . Marlon Brando has now visited Basin Street East five times to hear and see the African folk singer Miriam Makeba, and he hardly takes his eyes off her.

Judy Garland and a well-known pianist rushed to the living room to hear and see busty Jo! ## BY THEIR FORMER SLAVES

Watutsis Face Extermination

By DENNIS NEED

KIGALE, Rwanda (AP)—

The towering Watutsis of Rwanda face the threat of extermination by Bahutu tribesmen, who for centuries were their slaves. The stocky Bahutus are half the size of the Watutsis—many of whom stand seven feet tall but 10 times their number.

Thousands of Watutsis were driven out of Rwanda by a Bahutu revolt four years ago. Now fanatical Watutsi warriors—called by enemies Inyenzi, or cockroaches—are raiding the frontier in a desperate effort to retake the country from its new rulers.

Massacre

Their attacks touched off a massacre of Watutsi families remaining in Rwanda. It may never be known how many people died in the Bahutu reprisals. Missionaries here estimate the number between 10,000 and 20,000.

By missionaries' accounts: Backed by Rwanda's Belgian-officered army of some 1,200 men, Bahutus drove truckloads of Watutsi men, women and children into the bush, made them dig their own graves, then shot them.

Priest Billed

One Watutsi priest was dragged from his church during a Christmas Day service and hacked to pieces. His blood-stained robes were tossed among the congregation. Then his wife and children were seized. Their heads were tied to their knees and they were thrown in the river to drown.

The servant of a British missionary saw her father, brother and bridegroom, a teacher, slaughtered on her wedding day. She was raped.

A truck driver told how he had been forced to take 20 Watutsis into the bush for execution. One, he said, conducted a last service for the victims and they were shot as they knelt to pray.

Missionaries who tell of the carnage refuse to permit their names to be published for fear of reprisals against African members of their congregations.

Rwanda's prisons are reported jammed with Watutsis. Several churchmen here accuse President Gregoire Kayibanda's government of using the Watutsi raids as an excuse for genocide.

Bahutu fear and hatred of the Watutsis go back a long way. The Watutsis, brown-skinned aristocrats said by some to be descended from Egypt's Pharaohs, pure-blooded Negro tribes centuries ago and became the masters, often being carried about on litters by Bahutu slaves, who did all the work on farms.

Great Athletes

The Watutsis, who were spotless white togas, refused to work at all. Even so they were formidable athletes and there are written records to show that some, running and jumping from a foot-high mound, could clear heights more than eight feet.

Churchmen here would like to see some form of international intervention enabling surviving Watutsis in Rwanda to leave the country.

Rwanda government officials acknowledge privately that many Watutsis have been killed but declare that if Watutsis attacks from outside the country ceased there would be no more trouble.

A United Nations official here apparently agreed with this view.

"This is the whole crux of the matter," he said. "Before these attacks began there was peace here; there were even Watutsi members of the government. But as long as the attacks continue or there is a danger of attack the people of Rwanda are going to suffer."

Watutsi attacks are planned in refugee camps sometimes 65 miles from the frontier. Western diplomats believe extremist agitators are at work whipping up the hatred of the Watutsis for the Bahutu rulers.

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

Two men with the hardest and most thankless job in our British Columbia Legislature set stone in sling on Monday, and let fly with a will at Premier Bennett's $395,593,000 budget.

Since it happens to be a pretty solid budget—and since their total parties are heavily out-weighted by the government side in any division—it is unlikely that their criticisms, complaints and alternative suggestions will alter more than a line or two in the 67 expensively-printed and lavishly-illustrated pages of the premier's budget speech.

Even so, let us not delude ourselves that the hours spent by Opposition chief Robert Strachan and Liberal Leader Ray Perrault in testing the joints of government's armor were wasted.

Of the checks and balances parliament has evolved for itself, by far the most important is Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Traditionally if not always in fact, the legislators ranged to the left of Mr. Speaker are the conscience of the House.

Needle and Nag

It is their task to chip and nag... to needle and challenge... to lay back their ears and dig in their heels when they feel the government is abusing its mandate from the people.

Any man who wins his way into what has been described as B.C.'s most exclusive club must be effective in debate; and the opposition side especially develops trenchant and eloquent speakers. Mr. Strachan and Mr. Perrault are two of the Legislature's finest. Their pebbles may have bounced harmless off Goliath's forehead; but at least, they added to the education of the student audience in the galleries an example of parliamentary debate at its best.

Mr. Strachan on automation is always impressive, but his Monday description of how the machines threaten to take over the human function was a proper chiller. I could wish, though, that he had pulled more stops in his lament for the passing of the mid-night steamer from Victoria to Vancouver.

All Quiet Here

Mr. Bennett, obviously relaxed after his own big speech on Friday, indulged himself in less than his usual quota of Strachan-baiting. Through much of the afternoon, he leaned back in his blue chair like a benevolent schoolmaster, interrupting the speakers hardly at all.

Happiest government member of the day was Dan Campbell, Comox, who told me over coffee that work had begun Monday morning on the new $1,250,000 ferry service which will give Comox Valley growers a direct-line market in Powell River area.

Mr. Campbell expects that sport fishermen and vacationists will receive several bonuses from the new venture. Sand dredged from the ferry basin near Little River on Comox Peninsula will be used to establish a beach, and ramps will open one of the island's east coast's best salmon grounds to trailer-boaters.

Land reserves, which include a 25-acre tract alongside the projected terminal, will probably be developed into parks.

Meeker Committed

Rolling Surf Washed Up Glad Tidings

TOFINO — The age of miracles isn't over, according to members of the Ucluelet Indian Reserve.

Their prayers for lumber to build a gospel mission church have been answered.

The lumber came in the wake of a storm. Hundreds of pieces of first-class lumber, mostly 2x4's were washed up on the shore of the reserve.

It is believed the lumber was washed off the deck of an outbound freighter in Barkley Sound during a storm.

Sam Houchie, an energetic church worker said the salvaged lumber was just what they wanted for the 60x34 building being built by volunteers.

But, he added, they still need more lumber.

"Tell the people we are still praying for materials to finish the church," he said.

Hucksterism Charged In Welfare

By FRANK BUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett's approach to social welfare is like a public relations huckster, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged Monday.

He derided the premier's "human betterment" budget in a 2½-hour reply to the legislature.

"It is sad to see that instead of trying to meet the problem with a genuine plan, this government has fallen back on its favorite gimmick, the almighty dollar and the public relations huckster," he said.

"That huckster-like phrase 'human betterment' which has been dreamed up for use with such frequency throughout the budget doesn't alter the fact that this particular budget is no different from any previous budget brought down by this government as far as services to people is concerned."

Mr. Strachan said the government has allowed the social welfare department to

Birch Group Blasts JFK

NEW YORK (AP) — A John Birch Society publication contains an article in its current issue saying that as long as there are Americans, President Kennedy's "memory will be cherished with distaste." It speculates on the possibility they "will cure him" some day.

Robert Welch Jr., founder of the ultra-rightist society and editor of the publication, the American Opinion, described the article as "superb commentary."

The article appears under the name of Revillo P. Oliver, professor of classics at the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Birch Society's national commission.

GREATEST FEAR IN CUBAN CRISIS

JFK Feared for World's Children

WASHINGTON (AP)—The spectre of a nuclear war killing children — "who had no part and knew nothing of the confrontation"—was John F. Kennedy's greatest fear in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, his brother has disclosed.

Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy said in a new foreword to the late president's book, "Profiles in Courage," that he and his brother recognized the possibility of being killed, but this "seemed so unimportant, almost frivolous."

"The one matter which really was of concern to him and truly had meaning and made that time much more fearful than it would otherwise have been, was the spectre of death of the children of this country and around the world — the young people who had no part and knew nothing of the confrontation, but whose lives would be snuffed out like everyone else's."

HAD NO CHANCE

"They would never have been given a chance to make a decision, to vote in an election, to run for office, to lead a revolution, to determine their own destinies," Kennedy said.

The late president wrote the Pulitzer Prize winning Profiles in Courage while in hospital in 1954-55 with a recurrence of a wartime back injury. A new edition of the book was published today by Harper and Row.

The attorney-general finished writing it Dec 18—26 days after the president was assassinated.

"President Kennedy would be 54 in May of 1964," wrote the attorney-general. "At least one-half of the days that he spent on this earth were days of intense physical pain. He had diphtheria when he was young, serious back trouble when he was older. In between, he had almost every other conceivable ailment."

But Kennedy says he never heard his brother complain,

KENNEDY... they couldn't vote.

"never heard him say anything which would indicate that he felt that God had dealt with him unjustly."

"Those who knew him well would know he was suffering only because his face was a little whiter, the lines around his eyes were a little deeper, his words a little sharper. Those who did not know him well detected nothing."

Kennedy notes that "courage is the virtue that President Kennedy most admired. This book... is a study of men who at risk to themselves, their futures, even the well-being of their children, stood fast for principle."

"It was toward that ideal that he modeled his life. And this in time gave heart to others."

1,000-Man Unit Butler's Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home said today he hopes Canada will contribute troops to the proposed international police force for Cyprus.

A force was needed on the island if civil war were to be prevented, he told a press conference after two days of talks with Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson declined comment on possible Canadian participation in the projected 10,000-man force.

Sir Alec was asked for comment on the propriety of R. A. Butler, British foreign secretary, publicly asking for 1,000 Canadian infantrymen for a Cyprus force.

He said Mr. Butler always acts with "complete propriety." He had not seen what Mr. Butler had said and it was not yet known what form the force would take.

Sir Alec said he would be happy if the force had a "link" with the United Nations but direct control of the force by the UN Security Council should be avoided because of the possibility of a Soviet veto.

"The Cyprus problem must be internationalized," Sir Alec said.

NOT A NATO FORCE

The proposed international force was not a NATO force and would not be commanded by NATO's Supreme Commander in Europe. It would be drawn from NATO countries or from NATO and other nations.

Asked whether Britain would command the force, Sir Alec replied: "We usually have to do these things in the end."

He would be happy with a link between the force and the UN "so long as this does not hamstring the force." If the force were established, the contributing nations must make sure it would be able to operate.

Sir Alec said he has never been averse to UN peacekeeping operations but such operations must be well directed, executed and commanded.

Cyprus Hopes For UN Force

LONDON (Reuters)—Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou today reiterated his government's hope for a United Nations-sponsored peace-keeping force for his island country, preferably from Commonwealth nations.

"We have always wanted a force under the Security Council of the United Nations. The composition of this force would preferably from Commonwealth countries."

Kyprianou made the statement before flying to Nicosia to report to President Archbishop Makarios on talks on a plan calling for a NATO-sponsored force to maintain peace on the Mediterranean island.

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Arthur Andrew, Canada's high commissioner to Cyprus and ambassador to Israel, arrived here Monday night for talks with Cypriot, U.S. and British officials.

BEATLE-ISM BECOMES TOP STRATEGY

OTTAWA (CP)—Beatlemania intruded today into a press conference given by Prime Minister Pearson and Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

During questions and answers about Anglo-Canadian trade, Mr. Pearson interjected: "We agreed that one form in which the balance of payments could be improved in the near future would be by inviting the Beatles to Canada."

They would take millions of dollars, and we promised not to apply any anti-dumping duties against them."

Sir Alec added: "Our relations with Canada have been very good up to now."

British PM Says Trade Must Improve

OTTAWA — British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home today suggested Canada discriminate against its country's goods.

He also told a press conference that the United Kingdom was about to launch a trade offensive in order to capture a greater share of the Canadian market.

With Canadian Prime Minister Pearson sitting beside him, Sir Alec declared he had made up his mind that Britain's heavy imbalance of trade with Canada "must" improve.

He said he hoped some improvements in the situation might be accomplished as a result of talks to be held in London later this month between Canadian Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp and U.K. Board of Trade President Edward Heath.

COMPETITIVE PRICES

In addition, the U.K. government was going to do all it could to get its industries to come up with competitive prices in Canada, and that they would then get "fair" treatment under Canada's anti-dumping regulations.

He was asked if this was a suggestion Canadian anti-dumping laws were unfair to British goods.

Sir Alec replied he would not want to "suggest anything at the moment," until he saw just what the situation was after the sharp-teeth talks. But he added:

"It would seem they (the dumping laws) work against us."

Sir Alec was asked if Britain might retaliate with restrictions against Canadian goods of the U.K. trade position didn't improve.

He replied with a smile that he wasn't prepared to admit there wouldn't be an improvement.

AUSSIE SEAMEN TELL OF TRAGEDY

82 Died 'Without a Chance'

(Times News Service)

SYDNEY—The Australian Navy reported today that 82 men died "without a chance" when the destroyer Voyager was cleaved in two by an aircraft carrier seven times its size and sent to the bottom of the Tasman Sea.

It was the Australian navy's worst peacetime disaster.

The bodies of the captain and two members of his crew were found today, floating off Australia's east coast, 100 miles southeast of Sydney.

Search and rescue teams abandoned all hope of finding the 79 other missing officers, enlisted men and civilian technicians alive.

A total of 239 men aboard the sleek, ultra-modern vessel

survived, but many were injured seriously.

The Voyager sank in 490 feet of water late Monday night when it was rammed amidships by the aircraft carrier Melbourne, the navy's flagship, during training manoeuvres.

Navy Minister Alexander J. Forbes said the Voyager, running dark except for mast lights, cut across the Melbourne's bow and was cut in half. He began an intensive investigation of the collision.

Both Ships Travelling at 30 Knots

Both ships were proceeding at high speed—about 30 knots.

A survivor, chief shipwright Albert Maine, said about 70 of the missing men were below the water line, "sleeping or playing house-house (bingo) when we were hit. They didn't have a chance." He said many men aboard the ship were "inexperienced ratings who hadn't been trained to cope with anything like this."

Crew members of the Voyager not on duty were sleeping, preparing for bed, reading or otherwise relaxing.

In a canteen in the forward section, 70 or 80 men were playing bingo. Suddenly the signal

"collision stations" was piped and repeated.

"Then there was one hell of a bang," said Lt.-Cmdr. Peter Coombs, 34, of Sydney. "I was thrown across the wardroom. The forward section split and turned upside down."

Many bodies were believed trapped in the forward section.

Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies today ordered a public investigation into the sea disaster.

Calling the disaster shocking and unparalleled in Australia's peacetime naval history, Menzies said a normal navy inquiry would be inadequate. He said

STUDENT-LADEN SCHOOL BUS smashed its way into Central Saanich field this morning after colliding with a car at Pat Bay Highway and Mount Newton Cross Road. Car (not shown) was shunted backwards into ditch. Bus held 25 children, was turning down the cross road to pick up children from Indian reserve for Tsartlip School. There were no injuries, but both drivers suffered bruises.

Beatle Bashes Hike Sale of Wacky Wigs

Beatle wigs are selling like hairy hotcakes, but you still can't get into school unless you're not wearing the real thing.

David Mawle, one of two Oak Bay High School students who took up the hirsute hair-do in the flopped-top style, has agreed to comb it otherwise and go back to school.

His co-Beatle Philip Linfield is circulating a petition outside among adults for their support for his stand that a neat Beatle-style should be acceptable.

And the two Victoria stores that sell imitation Beatle hair-dos—wigs, that is—are selling as fast as they can rake the money in over the counter.

Favorite color—a sort of dandruffy black.

"I've repeated the orders several times," the manager of a downtown store told the Times this morning.

"People seem to have the money for them."

"We've had plenty of fun out of this craze, but I don't think it will last."

The wigs at his store sell for $5.95.

A shopping centre store that sells them for $1.99 reports the wigs are "going like mad."

Topics of Day

A 16-year-old youth was knocked through a door when a car rolled on a downtown service station this morning.

Martin Dougall, 4290 Glenford, was released after treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital for bruises.

The car started to roll after being left on Olson Motors lot with the gear shift in neutral, city police said. It knocked Dougall through a door into the body shop.

When the car was driven out of the way there was a large hole in the door through which the youth had gone.

A man who won a dismissal of an impaired driving charge in city court Monday changed his plea on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $175.

Frederick Jensen, 1275 Simon, was arrested by police a few blocks away from the scene of an accident on Finlayson Street Dec. 31.

Jensen was represented by lawyer John Kozak who was arguing his first case in a Victoria court. Mr. Kozak won an acquittal for his client after arguing that Jensen was emotionally upset and excited rather than under the influence of liquor, although he did have a few drinks earlier before the accident.

Brentwood Old Age Pensioners meet Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Women's Institute Hall.

Next meeting of the Victoria Short Wave Club's code and theory classes will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., 1200 Thompson Avenue, the home of Victor Allen.

Meeting of Victoria Liberal Association will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., in the War Amputations Hall, 1610 Oak Bay Avenue, commencing at 7:30 p.m. Guest speaker is Dr. Pat McGeer, M.L.A. There will also be a discussion, "Should We Recognize Red China," with W. Dickie the chairman.

DAFF BASKETS ERECTED FOR EASTER

Daffodil baskets will hang from cluster light standards during Easter week next month.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren is still examining varying types of containers and daffodil strains to implement the $2,000 experimental program approved last week by city council.

"But they'll be up just before Easter," he said this morning.

The blooms are expected to give color in some 460 baskets through the downtown area for 10 days to two weeks.

A 14-foot long sea lion was washed up dead on the beach at Esquimalt Lagoon Monday.

Sea lions abound north of Vancouver Island and there are some at Jordan River, but it is unusual for one to be found in this area.

The buck-toothed, be-whiskered animal was still lying on the beach this morning but was expected to be carried out to sea by the tides.

Robert Newton Hurley, a well-known Prairie artist, will address the Prospect Lake Community Association at a meeting starting at 8 o'clock tonight.

The new president of the association is Gordon Denford. He succeeds Brian Hoole.

Other officers are: Don Sanford, vice-president; Hugh Creighton, treasurer; Caroline Howes, entertainment; Bee Lamprecht, publicity; Brian Hoole, local improvements; Lorrette Hornsey, recording secretary; Doris Steward, corresponding secretary; Albert McDonald, sports.

Oak Bay will start paving reconstructed Cadboro Bay Road at the end of February, municipal engineer Geoffrey White told the public works committee Monday night.

The job will be finished late in March, he said.

Two local members and a newcomer are among the speakers in the legislature Wednesday.

The lineup, starting at 2 p.m.:

Works Minister W. N. Chant (SC—Victoria), Alan Macfarlane (L—Oak Bay), Ralph Loffmark (SC—Vancouver-Point Grey) and Frank Calder (NDP—Atlin).

The legislature will sit tonight at 8, and the speakers will be Waldo Skillings (SC—Victoria) and Cyril Shefford (SC—Omineca).

Rites Thursday For Former Deputy's Widow

Funeral service for Mrs. S. J. Willis will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Hayward's Chapel with Rev. F. E. James officiating.

Interment will follow at Royal Oak Cemetery.

Mrs. Willis, widow of Samuel John Willis, former deputy minister of education, died Monday in her 88th year.

Born in Nova Scotia she came to Victoria in 1891 and for many years was an active member in local women's organizations and Metropolitan United Church.

She was a past president of Chapter E of the PEO Sisterhood of Victoria and served as president of the Women's Canadian Club between 1935-1937.

She is survived by a son, Philip of Montreal and grandson, Hector Allan of Nevada.

Two private school teachers, tired of the rain and crowded classrooms of British Columbia, will open a one-year college this fall on a sunny island in the Mediterranean.

The island is Ibiza, most southerly of the Balearic Islands.

The teachers, Robert Price of Victoria and David Kingsmill-Abbott of Dublin, Ireland, will open "The Little College of Ibiza" in the village of Santa Eulalia del Rio in September. At present they are on the faculty of St. George's School in Vancouver.

MAXIMUM OF 50

Plans are to enrol 40 Canadian students this fall with a maximum enrolment of 50 in future years.

The college was conceived as an idealistic school where the best in climate and teaching conditions could be combined in an old world setting.

First year university courses in the liberal arts will be given with emphasis on the Spanish language, literature, art, music and history. At the end of the six-month course students will write examinations recognized by all universities in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Price, a graduate of Oak Bay High School and the University of British Columbia, has lived in Spain and taught at the University of Madrid. This past summer he returned to Spain and made arrangements to rent a hotel on the island of Ibiza which will be the home of "The Little College."

Mr. Kingsmill-Abbott considers there are too many pressures on Canadian students who take only those courses which have tangible benefits.

Canadian public schools he described as "enormous factories with a labyrinth of corridors."

SEVEN TO ONE

In contrast to this institutionalized type of education the two teachers plan to operate the college on the tutorial system. Plans are to have no more than seven students for every instructor with visiting lecturers from the University of Madrid and the Sorbonne during the year.

School term will end in April with a tour of southern Spain and additional tours are being planned for May and June.

LENT: ADD, DON'T SUBTRACT

By LESLIE MILLIN

Lent starts Wednesday—and it would have more meaning if people took things on instead of giving them up.

"Giving things up can be a strictly mechanical thing," says Rev. Robert Morris, of First United Church.

"I'm more concerned with adding things."

Rather than engage in "petty, external behavior," Christians should prepare themselves "for the immensity of what happened on the cross," he says.

Of a similar opinion is Rev. Roy Hoult, of Christ Church Cathedral.

"I despair of the triviality of a lot of this 'giving up,'" he says.

"I wish they would change it around, and take on things—try a positive approach to Christianity."

Mr. Hoult notes that in England one bishop asked his flock to give up a single meal for Lent—then calculate the cost, and give it to the church for work with the hopelessly poor.

This is practical Christianity, he says.

Mr. Hoult says he has met "quite a lot" of Victorians who have a serious approach to Lent, and approach it as a season of self-denial and preparation.

He notes that in the early church, candidates for baptism prepared for the ceremony during the 40 days of Lent.

"It was a period of special, intensive preparation," Canon Hilary Butler explains Lent as the 40 week-days (Sundays don't count) before Easter.

"Traditionally, this period has been set aside for special self-examination and self-restraint for improving Christian life," he says.

The "giving-up" comes from the custom of "going without what the body would like to have, to deepen religious awareness."

It starts on Ash Wednesday, a day of repentance symbolized by the still occasionally practised ceremony of marking a cross on the forehead with ashes.

Today is Shrove Tuesday, Pancake Day, or Mardi Gras—whatever you want to call it.

"It used to be the last big day of celebration before the fasting during Lent," says Mr. Morris.

"Unfortunately, it all too often turned into a drunken orgy."

Five Men Held In Liquor Theft

67 Cases Stolen At Qualicum

Five men are held for questioning in Vancouver following the theft at Qualicum Sunday night of 67 cases of liquor valued at about $3,000.

It was the second time in a month the government liquor store in the up-island town had been raided by thieves using the same methods.

When the store was entered before, by chopping a hole in the roof, $900 worth of liquor was taken. The case is unsolved.

RENTED TRUCK

Vancouver police stopped a rented panel truck in a routine check downtown Monday night. They found 67 cases of liquor aboard.

Two RCMP were sent to Vancouver to try to identify the cache uncovered by the city police.

At Qualicum, a detailed inventory was being taken to establish the exact loss.

The liquor was of mixed types and brands.

Police said it was carried from the store by way of a side door—same as before.

Old Mansion Up In Flames At Ganges

An early morning fire today destroyed a historic 70-year-old home, one of the oldest on Salt Spring Island.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lowe, and their three children, barely escaped with their lives when the fire swept through the 30-room mansion situated near Ganges.

The house was formerly owned by Major Henry Wright Bullock. It was built in 1894 and at one time was the centre of the island's social activities.

The fire broke out at 4 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe and their children fled in their night clothing as the blaze spread from room to room. Nothing was saved.

Nanaimo Funeral For G. B. Murdie

Funeral service was held this afternoon in Westwood Funeral Chapel, Nanaimo, for a former Victoria businessman, George Burn Murdie.

Mr. Murdie founded the G. B. Murdie Co. Ltd., of Victoria, manufacturers of logging equipment, in the early 1920's. In 1952 he sold the business which has since become the Nicholson Murdie Machines Ltd.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Murdie came to Canada in 1912 and served overseas in the First World War.

After retiring he moved to Nanaimo, where he died Friday in his 78th year.

He is survived by the widow, Mabel Blanchie, 1430 Estevan Road, Nanaimo.

RACE RESULTS HOT OFF THE GRIDDLE

The pancake was "king" at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, today.

Everyone baked golden pancakes by the score for the seventh annual Canadian pancake races—a hilarious fun-making event held every year on Shrove Tuesday.

The classic sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion was attended by large crowds in the noon hour.

In the grandmothers' race Mrs. H. C. Alexander placed first, while Mrs. Fred Sutton and Mrs. J. Jameski came second and third respectively.

The ladies' race was won by Mrs. Beverley Gibson while runner-up was Mrs. Doreen Ackerman. Mrs. G. Humphreys was third.

Pancake racing is an old English custom originating hundreds of years ago to make a final day of merriment before the start of Lent.

They are still held in Olney, England and at Liberal, Kan.

Driver Injured As Car Veers Out of Control

A motorist who lost control of his car at West Saanich Road and Wallace Drive was rushed in a semi-conscious condition to St. Joseph's Hospital Monday night.

Jose Antonio Matias, 6917 Veyaness Road, is in fairly good condition today. His car knocked over a stop sign before veering across the road and crashing into a bank. He suffered head injuries.

Keith Todd, 27, of 131 Bushby, who was injured in an accident at Oak Bay municipal yard Monday afternoon is in fairly good condition today with a broken arm. He was crushed against a gravel truck when a boom broke and pinned him against the vehicle.

A rear-end collision on Tillicum sent Charles Luxton, 1257 Haultain, to St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken knee. He is reported in good condition.

Teachers Plan Sun-Kissed School

By MARGE GILROY

Two private school teachers, tired of the rain and crowded classrooms of British Columbia, will open a one-year college this fall on a sunny island in the Mediterranean.

The island is Ibiza, most southerly of the Balearic Islands.

The teachers, Robert Price of Victoria and David Kingsmill-Abbott of Dublin, Ireland, will open "The Little College of Ibiza" in the village of Santa Eulalia del Rio in September. At present they are on the faculty of St. George's School in Vancouver.

MAXIMUM OF 50

Plans are to enrol 40 Canadian students this fall with a maximum enrolment of 50 in future years.

The college was conceived as an idealistic school where the best in climate and teaching conditions could be combined in an old world setting.

First year university courses in the liberal arts will be given with emphasis on the Spanish language, literature, art, music and history. At the end of the six-month course students will write examinations recognized by all universities in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Price, a graduate of Oak Bay High School and the University of British Columbia, has lived in Spain and taught at the University of Madrid. This past summer he returned to Spain and made arrangements to rent a hotel on the island of Ibiza which will be the home of "The Little College."

Mr. Kingsmill-Abbott considers there are too many pressures on Canadian students who take only those courses which have tangible benefits.

SEVEN TO ONE

In contrast to this institutionalized type of education the two teachers plan to operate the college on the tutorial system. Plans are to have no more than seven students for every instructor with visiting lecturers from the University of Madrid and the Sorbonne during the year.

School term will end in April with a tour of southern Spain and additional tours are being planned for May and June.

Griffith, Rodriguez In Title Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Welterweight boxing champion Emilio Griffith and former champion Luis Rodriguez will clash in a title bout in Las Vegas in June, two Nevada promoters said today.

Soviet Skater Sets World Mark

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Olympic 1,500-metre gold medalist, Ants Antson of the Soviet Union, established a world record of four minutes, 27.3 seconds for the 3,000-metre event tonight on the extremely fast ice of the Bislet Stadium. Antson knocked three-tenths of a second off the old record set by Sweden's Jonny Nilsson at Tolga, Norway, last year.

Canning Firm Fined $1,400

VANCOUVER (CP)—A canning firm today was fined a total of $1,400 after pleading guilty to six charges of selling canned foods that were contaminated, underweight and improperly labelled. Magistrate Ralph Reid imposed the fines on Famous Foods Limited.

The company admitted selling tins of food which had contained dead insects and other foreign matter and selling tins of less weight than shown on the labels.

Jet Pilot's Body Recovered

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Rescuers recovered the body today of Lt. John Boutz from the wreckage of his F-102 U.S. Air Force jet fighter near the top of 6,895-foot Crystal Peak on the Olympic Peninsula.

Boutz, 25, crashed during a training flight over the peninsula Saturday in his supersonic Delta Dagger.

Woman Plunges to Her Death

WINNIPEG (CP)—Police said a 37-year-old mother of three fell to her death today from a fourth-floor apartment house balcony.

Chief George Malby of the neighboring St. James police department said Mrs. Lee Rae McKee apparently slipped on the frosty balcony.

IN CUBAN CRISIS

World's Children
Concern of JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The spectre of a nuclear war killing children — "who had no part and knew nothing of the confrontation" — was John F. Kennedy's greatest fear in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, his brother has disclosed.

Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy said in a new forward to the late president's book, "Profiles in Courage," that he and his brother recognized the possibility of being killed, but this "seemed so unimportant, almost frivolous." "The one matter which really was of concern to him and truly had meaning and made that time much more fearful than it would otherwise have been, was the spectre of death of the children of this country and around the world — the young people who had no part and knew nothing of the confrontation, but whose lives would be snuffed out like everyone else's."

HAD NO CHANCE

They would never have been given a chance to make a decision, to vote in an election, to run for office, to lead a revolution, to determine their own destinies," Kennedy said.

The late president wrote the Pulitzer Prize winning Profiles in Courage while in hospital in 1954-55 with a recurrence of a wartime back injury. A new edition of the book was published today by Harper and Row.

The attorney-general finished writing it Dec. 18 — 26 days after the president was assassinated.

"President Kennedy would be 47 in May of 1964," wrote the attorney-general. "At least one-half of the days that he spent on this earth were days of intense physical pain. He had diphtheria when he was young, serious back trouble when he was older. In between, he had almost every other conceivable ailment."

But Kennedy says he never heard his brother complain, "never heard him say anything which would indicate that he felt that God had dealt with him unjustly."

"Those who knew him well would know he was suffering only because his face was a little whiter, the lines around his eyes were a little deeper, his words a little sharper. Those who did not know him well detected nothing."

Kennedy notes that "courage is the virtue that President Kennedy most admired. This book . . . is a study of men who at risk to themselves, their futures, even the well-being of their children, stood fast for principle."

"It was toward that ideal that he modeled his life. And this in time gave heart to others."

'WITHOUT A CHANCE'

Seamen Tell Terror Story

(Times News Service)

SYDNEY—The Australian Navy reported today that 82 men died "without a chance" when the destroyer Voyager was cleaved in two by an aircraft carrier seven times its size and sent to the bottom of the Tasman Sea.

It was the Australian navy's worst peacetime disaster.

The bodies of the captain and two members of his crew were found today, floating off Australia's east coast, 100 miles southeast of Sydney.

Search and rescue teams abandoned all hope of finding the 79 other missing officers, enlisted men and civilian technicians alive.

A total of 239 men aboard the sleek, ultra-modern vessel

survived, but many were injured seriously.

The Voyager sank in 480 feet of water late Monday night when it was rammed amidships by the aircraft carrier Melbourne, the navy's flagship, during training manoeuvres.

Navy Minister Alexander J. Forbes said the Voyager, running dark except for mast lights, cut across the Melbourne's bow and was cut in half. He began an intensive investigation of the collision.

Both Ships Travelling at 30 Knots

Both ships were proceeding at high speed—about 30 knots. A survivor, chief shipwright Albert Maine, said about 70 of the missing men were below the water line, "sleeping or playing house-house (bingo) when we were hit. They didn't have a chance." He said many men aboard the ship were "in experienced ratings who hadn't been trained to cope with anything like this."

Crew members of the Voyager not on duty were sleeping, preparing for bed, reading or otherwise relaxing. In a canteen in the forward section, 70 or 80 men were playing bingo. Suddenly the signal "collision stations" was piped and repeated. "Then there was one hell of a bang," said Lt.-Cmdr. Peter Coombs, 34, of Sydney. "I was thrown across the wardroom. The forward section split and turned upside down."

Many bodies were believed trapped in the forward section. Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies today ordered a public investigation into the sea disaster.

Calling the disaster shocking and unparalleled in Australia's peacetime naval history, Menzies said a normal navy inquiry would be inadequate. He said Continued on Page 2

Hucksterism Charged In Welfare

By FRANK BUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter
Premier Bennett's approach to social welfare is like a public relations huckster, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged Monday.

He derided the premier's "human betterment" budget in a 2½-hour reply to the legislature. "It is sad to see that instead of trying to meet the problem with a genuine plan, this government has fallen back on its favorite gimmick, the almighty dollar and the public relations huckster," he said.

"That huckster-like phrase 'human betterment' which has been dreamed up for use with such frequency throughout the budget doesn't alter the fact that this particular budget is no different from any previous budget brought down by this government as far as services to people are concerned."

Mr. Strachan said the government has allowed the social welfare department to Continued on Page 2

Haddon Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Bruce Haddon, 50, being proceeded against as a habitual criminal, was ordered released today by Supreme Court Justice H. W. McInnes on the ground he has been held illegally since Jan. 25. The judge granted a habeas corpus application for the man's release by his lawyer, John Burton.

COAST GUARD
GRABS ARMED CUBAN EXILESIn
Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

Two men with the hardest and most thankless job in our British Columbia Legislature set stone in sling on Monday, and let fly with a will at Premier Bennett's $395,593,000 budget.

Since it happens to be a pretty solid budget—and since their total parties are heavily out-weighted by the government side in any division—it is unlikely that their criticisms, complaints and alternative suggestions will alter more than a line or two in the 67 expensively-printed and lavishly-illustrated pages of the premier's budget speech.

Even so, let us not delude ourselves that the hours spent by Opposition chief Robert Strachan and Liberal Leader Ray Perrault in testing the joints of government's armor were wasted.

Of the checks and balances parliament has evolved for itself, by far the most important is Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Traditionally if not always in fact, the legislators ranged to the left of Mr. Speaker are the conscience of the House.

Needle and Nag

It is their task to chip and nag . . . to needle and challenge . . . to lay back their ears and dig in their heels when they feel the government is abusing its mandate from the people.

Any man who wins his way into what has been described as B.C.'s most exclusive club must be effective in debate; and the opposition side especially develops trenchant and eloquent speakers. Mr. Strachan and Mr. Perrault are two of the Legislature's finest. Their pebbles may have bounced harmless off Goliath's forehead; but at least, they added to the education of the student audience in the galleries an example of parliamentary debate at its best.

Mr. Strachan on automation is always impressive, but his Monday description of how the machines threaten to take over the human function was a proper chill. I could wish, though, that he had pulled more stops in his lament for the passing of the mid-Continued on Page 23

TO CYPRUS

'Send Troops'
Canada Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home said today he hopes Canada will contribute troops to the proposed international police force for Cyprus.

A force was needed on the island if civil war were to be prevented, he told a press conference after two days of talks with Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson declined comment on possible Canadian participation in the projected 10,000-man force.

Sir Alec was asked for comment on the possibility of R. A. Butler, British foreign secretary, publicly asking for 1,000 Canadian infantrymen for a Cyprus force.

He said Mr. Butler always acts with "complete propriety." He had not seen what Mr. Butler had said and it was not yet known what form the force would take.

Sir Alec said he would be happy if the force had a "link" with the United Nations but direct control of the force by the UN Security Council should be avoided because of the possibility of a Soviet veto.

"The Cyprus problem must be internationalized," Sir Alec said.

NOT A NATO FORCE

The proposed international force was not a NATO force and would not be commanded by NATO's Supreme Commander in Europe. It would be drawn from NATO countries or from NATO and other nations.

Asked whether Britain would command the force, Sir Alec replied: "We usually have to do these things in the end."

He would be happy with a link between the force and the UN "so long as this does not hemsterng the force." If the force were established, the contributing nations must make sure it would be able to operate.

Sir Alec said he has never been averse to UN peacekeeping operations but such operations must be well directed, executed and commanded.

Cyprus Hopes For UN Force

LONDON (Reuters)—Cyprus Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou today reiterated his government's hope for a United Nations-sponsored peace-keeping force for his island country, preferably from Commonwealth nations.

"We have always wanted a force under the Security Council of the United Nations. The composition of this force would preferably be from Commonwealth countries."

Kyprianou made the statement before flying to Nicosia to report to President Archbishop Makarios on talks on a compromise Anglo-American plan calling for a NATO-sponsored force to maintain peace on the Mediterranean island.

Canadian at Talks

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Arthur Andrew, Canada's high commissioner to Cyprus and ambassador to Israel, arrived here Monday night for talks with Cypriot, U.S. and British officials.

50-Foot
Vessel
Seized

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The coast guard boarded and seized early today a fast, fully fueled 50-foot boat with 16 Cuban exiles aboard armed with rifles and a cannon, and apparently bound for a raid against Cuba.

A customs department officer in Miami identified the boat as the Arroyo, which was registered in Florida. He said the 16 men aboard were being held in Key West pending further investigation.

Two Browning automatic rifles, four carbines and a 20-millimeter cannon were found aboard the Arroyo, which was escorted into Key West by the coast guard cutter Ariadne.

The coast guard said the Arroyo was boarded off Dry Tortugas, the island group about 60 miles west-southwest of Key West where four Fidel Castro government Cuban fishing boats and their crews were seized Feb. 2 for poaching in U.S. waters.

The Arroyo was tied up after its arrival here at the coast guard docks, near where the four Cuban government boats were still anchored.

Meeker Committed

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Leonard James Meeker, 35-year-old Kimberley farmhand, Monday was committed for trial on a charge of rape involving a 49-year-old mother of five.

SHOPLIFTING charges against Miss Universe, Ieda Vargas, of Brazil, in Miami have been dropped. She was arrested last Friday, charged with stealing $24.92 worth of panties, girdles and other clothing. Lawyer said the arrest resulted from misunderstanding and a language barrier. (AP Wirephoto.)
